esident Harding Presents Plans to End Present Quarrel

OVERNMENT WILL ASSIST

uick Action Requested of Both Contending Parties

WASHINGTON — (United Press) President Harding today proposed deral arbitration of the nation-de mine strike.

Speaking before the conference of ners and operators at the White ouse, the executive suggested at the dispute besubmitted to a deral commission composed of ree operators, three miners and e persons to represent the public. The president would appoint the blic representatives.

EMAND QUICK ACTION

Harding also demanded that the erators and miners resume min-g operations, pending the finding the commission.

This commission would have until ugust 10 to arrange a new wage ale, according to the Harding plan. In the meantime, old wage scales ould be effective and men would mediately return to work.

If a new scale cannot be agreed pon by August 10, the president ggested that the present scale be ntinued until 1923.

He asked that the two factions ive him their answer tonight and ohn L. Lewis, immediately called meeting of the miner chiefs to con-der the president's proposal.

The plan suggested by the presi-ent was complete arbitration of he strike. If accepted, both opera-ors and miners would agree to ac-ept as final the findings of the ommission.

OULD MAKE PROBE

The commission also would make n exhaustive inquiry into the min-g industry which has been the ource of recurrent strikes during he last ten years. The president aid he was hopeful that in this anner industrial peace in the in-ustry would be established. The resident promised to ask congress or authority and appropriations to nable the commission to carry on s work.

The new wage scale, which the ommission would fix would con-nue until March, 1923.

By that time, it is expected that he commission would be able to ake a complete report on condi-ons in the industry so that more r less of a permanent scale could e agreed upon.

ARD COAL MEN MEET

The anthracite convention is cheduled to meet this afternoon. The operators in this group want rbitration. The miners fear arbi-ration will mean wage reductions nd demand an agreement insuring gainst lower wages before they ubmit the quarrel to arbitration. oal production in the non-union elds has dropped to approximately 000,000 tons weekly, the geo-ogical survey reported. This is a rop of 1,000,000 tons weekly from revious figures and indicates a lowing down of mining, the survey tated.

The country's weekly require-ments are 10,000,000 tons.

With consumption at normal and production at approximately 50 per ent of normal, reserve stocks con-sequently are low, and rapidly windling, the survey stated. The indications are that Harding will not bring open pressure to bear on the conferees for at least 48 hours.

MINES ARE GUARDED

MADISONVILLE, Ky.—(United Press)—Machine guns mounted on four hills commanded the Sunlight coal mine near here today, follow-ing reports of impending violence from strikers.

Judge C. C. Givens, who asked for the state troops, said he antici-pated no fighting "now that we have adequate protection."

The judge declared "certain con-servative union men" had told him a "repetition of the Herrin, Ill., massacre" would be staged.

CHINCH BUGS ATTACKING CORN NEAR LAFAYETTE, COUNTY AGENT IS TOLD

Reports received by H. J. Ridge, farm agent, Monday, show that chinch bugs have recovered from the effects of the heavy rain last week, and are attacking corn fields.

E. C. Ludwig, farmer near Lafayette, told Ridge the bugs are so thick there the stalks of the corn are black with them. Large quantities of bugs were said to be crossing the Lincoln highway near the J. C. Roberts farm, in Sugar Creek-tp.

Chinch bug control and wheat standardization will be discussed at the Monroe-tp farm bureau meeting at Monroe Center school Monday night. Inspection of damage to corn fields and distribution of mineral mixture to pig club boys were being carried on Monday.

STRIKERS ARRESTED

CHILLICOTHE — Seven striking shopmen were arrested on charges of assault and battery filed by Sherman Bordner, foreman at the B. & O. shops who declared they had stoned him.

75 MEN ADDED TO B. & O. FORCE

RESUME REPAIRS ON ENGINES

Strikers Scout Statement Made by H. E. Warburton

IMPORT FORCE OVER SUNDAY

Chief Lanker Refuses Placing Additional Guards

Heavy repairs on engines, suspended since B. & O. Railway shopmen walked out on strike here, was resumed Monday, H. E. Warburton, in charge here declared.

Seventy-five mechanics, electricians, boilermakers, and other craftsmen were put to work in the shops over Sunday, he said.

Strikers however, deny the possibility of heavy repairs being resumed. They also take issue with the claims of the official that 75 craftsmen were imported into the shops over the week-end.

STATEMENT DENIED

Pickets were on duty thruout day and night Saturday and Sunday, they said. The pickets failed to report any importation of men with the exception of a number of colored laborers.

Warburton asserts that craftsmen are being shipped into this city on every train. He is of the belief that normal conditions will hold sway at the shops soon.

At the same time he gave out this report, he declared that lack of protection from the city is handicapping his work greatly. He declared that city officials are making no effort to regulate the work of pickets or to keep the tracks and stations clear. He objected strenuously to this alleged failure and predicted the eventual removal of the shops from this city as a result.

Chief Lanker, of the Lima police department, has washed his hands of the situation so far as added protection is concerned. He declared that the strikers have been conducting themselves in an orderly fashion and have necessitated no interference on the part of police officials.

The B. & O. is now depending upon special police to patrol their shops. They have no guards at the passenger depot.

100 MEN AT WORK, CLAIM

More than a hundred laborers, officials of the B. & O. declare, are at work in the yards now.

Food is delivered to them there in automobile trucks. The laborers do not leave the yards.

Reports of the denial of seniority rights to strikers who failed to return to work Monday, were not substantiated by Warburton. He said that no order of this kind had been received here.

According to reports from Washington, The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad (The Nickel Plate) Monday filed its formal application with the interstate commerce commission for permission to take over control of the L. E. & W.

Announcement of the plan was made some time ago.

INVESTIGATE CHARGES

Strikers declared that they had no interest in threatened seniority rulings by the railroads. They said they would resume work when the strike is settled, only with the understanding that seniority rights are to continue as if there had been no walkout. They said the matter did not interest them at present.

Announcement to the effect that twenty-one trains had been removed from the Chicago & Erie Railroad schedule operatng out of New York, as a result of the strike, was confirmed by representatives of the railroad here, Monday.

Pastors of negro congregations in this city were reported to have been investigating rumors Monday charging B. & O. officials with holding negro workers at the shops against the will of the negroes. There were no definite complaints filed at police headquarters, however.

TEACHING THRIFT VITAL, SAYS ROCKEFELLER, JR.

Tells How He Instructs His Own Children to Save

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

"A boy should do the wholesome things his father had to do, in so far as is possible. It will teach him what qualities made his father successful. I am sorry I did not have that sort of a chance. I want my boys to start work at the bottom."—John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Deplores Passing of Old Wood Pile Where He Got Training

(BY EDWARD M. THIERRY)
(Copyright, 1922,) All Rights Reserved. Republication Prohibited Anywhere In World.)

NEW YORK — (Special) —John D. Rockefeller, Jr., regards bringing up his children as one of the most engrossing and important tasks.

"I regret the passing of the old-fashioned woodpile," he says. "I have failed to find a modern equivalent of the woodpile of my father's boyhood."

Thus began the first interview Mr. Rockefeller has ever given on this human subject. He discussed his ideas on family finance and the problem of children. He did not pretend to be telling what other people should do with their children; he simply agreed, at my request, to discuss some of the principles he felt he was duty-bound to put into effect in training his own children.

"Wealth", he said, "hurts children when they get too much of it. Just because a man can afford to hire people to wait on his children is no reason why he should do it. I don't. They should be helped to form the habit of doing things for themselves—things that need to be done—whether they like to do them or not. I think many modern children are not developing the will power and self mastery that are essential in the solution of life's problems.

WOODPILE HELPED FATHER

"That's what I mean about the woodpile. My father had to chop wood and do the milking. He probably didn't like doing the chores any better than most boys but he acquired the habit of doing things he didn't like to do; his will was trained, and it helped him cope with other difficulties."

Mr. Rockefeller has six children, five of them boys. In age they are from six to 18. They are being taught thrift and the value of money.

Everybody knows that one of the things whiel is wrong with the world is extravagance," he says. "Extravagance hurts character. It is a man's duty to civilization to be thrifty. Whether a man can afford to lavish spending isn't the point; it is wrong not to spend wisely whatever is spent, whether a man can spare the money or not."

Families and individuals — children, too— should keep accounts of the money they receive and spend, says Mr. Rockefeller. He told me his father himself kept account of his personal expenditures until he was past 50. And he himself did so until a few years ago. Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., is 48.

"At seven or eight my children each received an allowance of 30 cents a week," he explained. "The understanding was that out of it they were to save and to give, as well as to spend. Ten cents was to be saved, 10 was for church and

ROUNDUP OF MEN IS ORDERED

Imported As Strikebreakers, Negroes Loaf About City

Strike breakers imported by railway companies into Lima will be summarily dealt with if caught annoying citizens and committing misdemeanors or crimes, police said Monday.

Police Captain George Strick issued this ultimatum to men of the department. It was to be read to patrolmen at 3 p. m. roll call and will probably be given out to men reporting at 11 p. m.

Complaints from citizens regarding actions of some of the negroes brought in by the B. & O. Railroad Co. is the cause, Strick said.

A complaint from a party said by police to be A. Canall, 329 Flandersav, at 9:35 a. m. Monday, charged that negroes were prowling about premises in the neighborhood at night and stealing garden truck.

A resident near the B. & O. shops did not wait for police when he saw two colored men loitering near his choice layout of homegrown vegetables and fruits. He conducted them to headquarters, where Strick told them to quit the city unless they had work to do.

According to information supplied police the men who are causing the trouble have been rejected at the shops because of incompetency.

Strick's orders to policemen are to round up all who seem to be "floaters" and bring them to headquarters for investigation.

Only one of the party of six heeded the advice. She was a younger sister of the Moskovitzs. The others started over. When about half way across an eastbound car approached. GERMAN MARK AT NEW LOW LEVEL

Wirth Government Places Future in Hands of Allies

DUBLIN — (United Press) — The mark, barometer of German finance, tumbled to new low levels today as the Wirth government placed the future of the republic in the hands of the allies and asked relief from its debts.

Germany, facing financial industrial and social collapse, looks to England and America to bring pressure upon France so that the latter shall not press reparations claims too far. From the French, unless London and Washington intervene, the Germans expect no mercy.

It required 2,425 marks to buy a British pound sterling, when continental exchanges opened after the week end.

Germany's unofficial ambassadors, secretaries Schroeder and Fischer, were to confer with the reparations commission at Paris this afternoon regarding Germany's request for a moratorium postponing payment of six billion paper marks, due next Saturday.

NEW PLAN PROPOSED

PARIS — (Associated Press) — A proposal providing for the payment of all the remaining cash installments due this year, provided Germany is granted a moratorium of at least two years, was brought to Paris today by German representatives according to unofficial information which reached the reparations commission.

VIOLENCE IS REPORTED IN MANY PLACES

Machine Gun Unit Ordered to Illinois Trouble Zone

CRISIS IS REACHED TODAY

Men Must Return or Lose Their Seniority Rights

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press)—The government thru appointment of deputy United States marshals will make sure that law and order are preserved especially and life protected, transportation of the mails continued and interstate commerce not interrupted despite the strike of railroad shopmen, Attorney General Daugherty announced today after a conference with President Harding.

The attorney general, announced that he had within the last few days authorized the appointment of a number of deputy marshals in the middle west.

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) —Under the protection of state troops and federal marshals, railroad shops at several troublesome points began determined efforts today to break the railway shopmen's strike, while the ranks of the strikers apparently held solidly and peace overtures were still unseen.

Notified by the Chicago and Alton that it intended to re open the Bloomington, Ills., shops, Mayor E. E. Jones and Sheriff J. E. Morrison sent new appeals for troops from Springfield and Danville, Ills., were ordered to entrain today. Three companies now patrolling the Illinois Central yards at Clinton, Ills., may be moved to Bloomington. Both places were quiet today however, with traffic at the terminals near a standstill.

Kansas national guardsmen stood guard in a drizzling rain while 150 men went to work at the Missouri, Kansas and Texas shops in Parsons, Kansas. There was no trouble.

Deputy United States marshals took charge of the Burlington shops at Aurora, Ills., while cordon of 1,800 strikers formed a slow moving circle around the shops.

Reported interference with mail trains on the Wabash was being investigated by the post office department, meanwhile.

DANVILLE, Ill. — (Associated Press) — Company D., 130th infantry, local machine gun unit left here at 9 o'clock over the Big Four railroad under sealed orders, probably for Bloomington or Clinton, Ills., according to one of its officers.

PARSONS, Kan. — (Associated Press) — Adjutant General Charles I. Martin and 300 Kansas national guardsmen took command of the strike situation in Parsons at four a. m., today. Without any word to city or county officials, the troops arrived in town and were immediately quartered in the M. K. & T., railroad's athletic field. One of the first acts of General Martin was to place a ban on all street meetings.

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) —The crucial stage of the railway strike was reached today—the tenth since the shopmen's nation-wide walkout.

National guardsmen were on duty in Illinois and under arms in four other states. United States marshals were in charge of law enforcement machinery at various points. The Michigan state police were prepared for duty, while at some rail centers the roads relied upon federal injunctions and local authorities for protection in attempting to operate shops and maintain transportation into which increasing inroads were noted.

SOUND ULTIMATUM

Shop and roundhouse whistles shrieked the final notes of railroad ultimatums cancelling seniority and pension rights of strikers who refused to return to the shops today. New acts of violence occurred at scattered points and others were feared as the situation grew tenser.

The tenth day of the strike was marked by the apparent determination of both sides to stand by their positions taken at the outset and indications pointed to a feverish deadlock.

Railroads generally prepared to open their shops with what labor was available, accepting returned strikers and filling vacant jobs as far as possible with imported workers.

State troops patrolled the Illinois Central yards and shops at Clinton, Ill., while at Bloomington, Ill., City and county officials, admitting the collapse of civil authority, awaited action by Lieutenant Governor Sterling on their appeal for troops. A new appeal to the acting governor was made by Mayor Jones and Sheriff Morrison late last night.

NATIONAL GUARD MOBILIZED

National guard companies were mobilized in Missouri and Kansis.

United States Marshals increased their forces as they prepared to take charge of law enforcement at points in several states where situations were critical.

Marshal E. E. Fitzpatrick and a force of deputies went to Parsons,

MOVE TO SPEED UP ROAD WORK

Projects Lagging, Division Engineer Asserts

INSPECTORS CALLED IN

Two Inspectors and Engineer Dropped in Shakeup

Steps looking toward more rapid construction of state aid roads in Allen-co will be taken by G F. Clements, division engineer, he announced Monday.

Work has been lagging on several projects. A trip made over Allen-co and the remainder of the highway district during the past week, is believed to have caused the decision to expedite construction.

A meeting of all inspectors in the county has been called for Monday evening, in the offices of the highway department.

Each man will have to show the division engineer good cause if work on his section is lagging behind the schedule set by the state.

A shakeup of the state road forces in Allen-co ocurred last week when two inspectors and a engineer were let out. Others are to follow, if they cannot deliver the goods, it is said.

Complaints regarding the work of some of the inspectors is said to have originated with county commissioners.

While delay in the work is slated as cause of the shakeup, there are other reasons, it is alleged. In one case, county commissioners say, an inspector passed several loads of stone that was below grade.

County commissioners will take no hand in the meeting, Glen Wallace, clerk said.

"We have nothing to do with the work," he said, "It is up to the state. Requirements of the highway department are very rigid and even if an inspector passes the examination, he must hit the ball."

SPEED UP MADE

Clements said he called the meeting to learn what can be done to get some of the roads built more rapidly. Things are going too slowly, in his opinion.

The Westminster-New Hampshire road improvement, one and five-tenths miles long, will probably be the first unit of the 1922 state aid program to be opened for traffic.

R. Stone, Lima, contractor, expects to finish the section about August 15.

Sale of the last two sections of the Harding Highway, across Marion and Hardin-cos will be made July 14. The work is already in progress on three sections in Allen-co and the link from Elida to Scotts Crossing, is to sell July 21.

MINES SCHEDULED TO OPEN TODAY

Sheriff Prepares for Trouble in Southern Ohio Field

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) With a peaceful week-end passed in the coal mining districts of the state, attention was turned today upon the Gallipolis mining area where several mines closed last week were scheduled to resume operation under the protection of county officials, and to St. Clairsville, where a grand jury was to convene to consider the cases of 13 men arrested in connection with the shooting of John Majors, strip mine employe, last week.

The situation at the mines near Gallipolis, most of which are located at Cheshire, was brought about last Friday when men alleged to have been union miners, were said to have threatened non-union employes with firearms and prevailed upon them to cease work. Sheriff Swanson of Gallia-co swore in extra deputies and announced that they would be stationed at the mines today and that work would be resumed. Announcement was made from mine union officials at Pomeroy, nearby, that no threats had been made at the Cheshire mines.

The 13 men under arrest at St. Clairsville were being held on suspicion in connection with Majors' death. He was shot by alleged union miners when he and two others were going to work at a strip mine near Lafferty, having refused to heed requests of the men that they stay away from the mine. Majors' two companions were injured by shots fired from a group said to have been composed of approximately 200 men.

HOPE IS BLASTED

Extension of State Aid Road Program Refused

Hopes entertained by the board of county commissioners to extend Allen-co's 1922 state aid program have been blasted by the state highway department

Efforts were made recently by the commissionersto induce Leon C. Herrick, highway director, to extend aid to a mile stretch from the city limits to McBeth park and on a section from Delphos north to the county line.

Monday the commissioners were informed there is nothing doing at present. Until other projects under construction are completed, the department is unable to make any promise, the commissioners were told.

Izzi received wounds in both legs and his right hand. Rinoldi is being sought by Sheriff Starkloff. Both men were employed at a gypsum plant at Plasterbed, where the shooting occurred.

STRIKE CRISIS IS REACHED TODAY

Kansas, where state troops also were ordered by Governor Allen.

Several deputies working under Marshal I. K. Pearshall, of Kansas City were sent to Slater, Mo., where strikers for several days had been in virtual control of the Chicago and Alton shops and the town.

Mobilization of special deputies under federal marshals was made for the additional protection of mails and property of railroads in the hands of receivers appointed by United States courts.

Officials of the Missouri Pacific, announced the annulment of thirty passenger trains on the company's eastern division, adding that trains on other divisions probably would be discontinued at the same time.

All train service on the International and Great Northern from Georgetown to Roundrack, Texas, was suspended.

Governor Taylor of Tennesse received appeals to send troops to Memphis to protect properties and employes of the Frisco lines.

WRECK IS PROBED

Investigations by state authorities in Kansas of the wreck of the Golden State Limited on the Rock Island at Topeka were under way. The state also took part in the investigation of a wreck at Burton Saturday.

Disorders spread to the east when the homes of two Baltimore & Ohio employes who refused to join the strike were bombed at New Castle, Pa. A striker was shot at New Castle.

Two workmen for the Missouri Pacific at Monroe, La., were fired upon and wounded A former employe was arrested, charged with the shooting.

In most places where appeals for troops were made, the strikers said all possible efforts would be made to preserve order and they denounced the call for troops.

At Knoxville, Tenn., a policeman and a negro striker exchanged thirty shots in a running pistol fight which resulted in no casualties.

Special details of police were assigned to railroad shop and yard districts in Chicago, Denver, New York and other cities thruout the country.

In New York strikers explained their position in an "open letter to commuters on the Erie," placing the responsibility upon the United States railway labor board.

Circulars addressed "to the shopmen, maintenance of way men, clerks and others affected by the wage reductions," urging defiance of the courts and the armed forces of the United States were reported to have been found on the doorsteps of many railroad workers in New York. Union leaders said the circular would at once be turned over to federal authorities.

The circulars were said to have been signed J. Davis, executive secretary, central committee of the Communist party of America.

CONFERENCE IS ARRANGED

E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the railway clerks, had a conference arranged today with the railroad labor board over issues upon which hinged a potential strike of clerks.

At Wilkesbarre, Pa., William B. Roberts, vice president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes announced a meeting Wednesday of twenty-two district chairmen representing 28 railroads in the east on the question of wage cuts by the labor board.

CALL FOR POLICE

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — Patrolmen were rushed to the Hocking Valley railroad shops here today on complaint of road officials that 200 strikers were gathering near the company's property.

The patrolmen remained in the shops districts altho no disorder was reported.

Hocking Valley officials notified strikers that failure to return to work by noon today means forfeiture of seniority rights and other privileges.

Strike observers viewed the request of Pennsylvania officials that strikers turn in their passes, keys and other company property when they are paid today, as tantamount to formal discharge.

PROTECTION INCREASES

AKRON — (United Press) — Railroad officials doubled their force of guards around shops here today, as reports of impending mob violence by strikers became current.

Feeling between strikers and strike-breakers was said to be running high.

Reports from the Erie roundhouse at Kent said a warning that mobs of strikers would storm the building, had been served on Mayor W. O. Hollister.

Baltimore and Ohio officials here, however, reported their shop forces practically normal. Superintendent Stephens said importation of 110 men since Saturday had brought the shop forces up to "full operating strength."

WILL NOT STRIKE

ST. LOUIS.—(Associated Press.) Foremen and supervisors of mechanics, who are members of the International Association of Railroad Supervisors of Mechanics, should not join the shopmen's strike unless compelled to perform work that would make them strikebreakers W. V. O'Neil, international president, told The Associated press today.

O'Neil telegraphed the heads of the four grand brotherhoods—engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen—to this effect today after receiving reports that foremen were to join the strike.

RELIEF FROM HEAT IS SEEN

Wrath of the gods was visited on the city of Lima Monday in the form of sunbeams that threatened to reduce the weight of every citizen at least a few pounds.

Despite a slight breeze that was felt only in the shaded nooks, the city was a playground for the warmest beams Old Sol could visit upon the earth.

Relief, however, is predicted by the weather man in the shape of showers and thunderstorms he promises will visit this area Monday night and Tuesday. At any rate, he says, the temperature will decline Tuesday.

Cooler, is the general prediction for these parts.

How much cooler, he falls to say.

FARM HOME SAVED BY FIREMEN

City Safety Men Make Sunday Run Into the Country

Lima fire department saved a large farmhouse belonging to Ed Bruning, a mile and a half northwest of the city, from destruction Sunday at 4 p. m. when a run was made after flames communicated from a burning barn. The latter structure was burned to the ground, with a loss of $3,000.

Frantic attempts of neighbors to extinguish the fire were fruitless. When they saw flames jump to a shed between the barn and house they called the department, which arrived as the roof of the residence was bursting into flames. Chemicals were used and the shed torn down to prevent further spread of the blaze.

Origin of the fire may have been due to spontaneous combustion. Several tons of new mown hay had been placed in the barn the day previous. There was no livestock in the barn and little farm machinery and tools, according to information supplied the department.

The family was absent at the time. Bruning and wife had started for Dayton an hour before the fire was discovered.

One of the neighbors had his face and hands badly burned while forming a part of a bucket brigade.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IN COLLINS WILL CASE EXPECTED; COURT ACTS

Appeal of the famous Collins will case to higher courts is now regarded as almost a certainty.

Motion to direct the verdict in the case filed by counsel for Perry Collins, son of Samuel Collins, has been overruled in common pleas court. Action of the court is a point in favor of Dorothy Collins, 418 S. Cole-st, who was successful in breaking the will and obtaining a verdict for $125,000.

A motion for a new trial is yet to be heard in the case. If overruled steps will be instituted immediately to carry the case to Appeal court, attorneys state.

PARLEY ON RELEASE OF BOOTLEGGERS FROM JAIL FAILS TO MATERIALIZE

Scheduled conference between Manager Clarence Bingham and the board of county commissioners, relative to parole of bootleggers from the county jail, failed to materialize Monday morning.

Members of the board of county commissioners expected the city officials to call at their office during the morning hours. No one appeared prior to noon, however.

51,503 IS POPULATION OF LIMA, ACCORDING TO NEW CITY DIRECTORY

Lima's present population is placed at 51,503 by the R. H. Polk Co., whose representative distributed the 1922 directory for this city Monday.

The new list of citizens is slightly larger than any previous one issued.

It credits Lima with a growth of nearly 10,000 since the official United States census was taken in 1920.

The directory points to the fact that the city is the capital of Allen-co and caters to a large extra-urban population.

The directory is the twenty-first edition for this city.

CITY PLANS WAR AGAINST HOUSE TO HOUSE PEDDLERS

House to house peddlers and itinerant canvassers are the ones against whom the city of Lima is waging war, and not commercial traveling salesmen handling reputable lines of goods, C. A. Bingham, city manager, told representatives of the U. C. T. association Monday.

Considerable ill feeling has been engendered among traveling salesmen who have been told that Lima is against traveling salesmen and has started enforcing laws against them, Pat R. Goonan and E. H. Hawisher told Bingham.

Misrepresenting merchandise is the main forte of the house to house operators and thousands of dollars have been lost by householders because of them, Bingham believes. It it to stop this that the city is determined upon, he said.

Commercial travelers sell merchandise to stores and not to the consumers. They represent reputable lines of business and as they are in business from year to year are to be encouraged, Bingham said. More than 900 travelers work out of Lima, Goonan said.

CHARGES INVESTIGATED

COLUMBUS — Investigation of alleged cruelty to inmates of the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster was started today by a special committee appointed yesterday by Dr. S S. MacAyeal, state director of public welfare. The committee went to Lancaster this morning determined to investigate every charge made in a special report by the Ohio Bureau of Public Efficiency.

FRAUD ALLEGED BY SUIT CLUB MEMBERS; RECOVERY OF MONEY ASKED IN COURT

Trial of actions alleging fraud brought against the Field Tailoring Co. by E. E. Hackenberger and Joe Lorth, former members of a suit club operated by the concern, commenced in common pleas court at noon Monday.

A jury is trying the case, before Judge Fred C. Becker.

Both actions were started to recover money alleged to have been paid into the suit club by the plaintiffs. The plan was to pay $1 a week for 40 weeks and secure a $40 suit.

The plaintiffs alleged they paid in their money and were not given suits and that defendant company refused to make a refund.

6 ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS

One Admits It, Two Deny and Another Forfeits Bond

Two of a quartette of men arrested on drunkenness and disorderly charges pleaded not guilty Monday in criminal court. Maurice Joyce, 42, of 400 N. Jackson-st, and Frank Holmes, 56, will be given hearings, the former Tuesday at 9 a. m. and the latter Wednesday at 3:45 p. m.

Martin Elvard, 44, pleaded guilty, and Chandler Hulbert, 27, Rowlands Row, forfeited $25 bond. Elvard drew a fine of $15.

Police say Hulbert attempted to resist an officer Saturday night when policemen sought to search his house for an alleged liquor cache. Entrance was forced, but nothing discovered. Hulbert was fined $50 three weeks ago and given a jail sentence for driving an auto while intoxicated.

Two more awaited arraignment Monday on drunkenness charges. Edward Sutton, 62, of 1812 W. Wayne-st, and Charles Whitson, 45, were arrested at noon, the latter on N. Central-ave, police say.

OTHER CITIES PLAN TO PATTERN AFTER LIMA'S FORM OF GOVERNMENT

That Lima is one of the leading cities in the United States when its form of government is considered, has been recognized by the National Institute of Public administration.

In a letter to C. A. Bingham, city manager, the director of the institute, Luther Gulick, states he will send one of their young engineers here to study Lima methods.

This action is in response to an invitation extended by Manager Bingham and is for the purpose of providing eligibles for positions as managers thruout the country. The student will pay all of his own expenses and is expected about September 1.

Calls for city managers are becoming numerous, Bingham said. An inquiry from Alexandria, Virginia, was received Monday asking for the names and addresses of available city managers. Another was received from Kenosha, Wis. last week, Bingham said.

JOHN D. SNAPPED

Drives Bargain With Photographers—Takes 'Em to Church

TARRYTOWN, N. Y. — (United Press) — The millineum for newspaper reporters has come—John D Rockefeller consented to have himself snapped in poses.

But the world's richest man was photographed on his own terms. Three photographers were assigned to photograph Rockefeller yesterday as he entered New Community church here, the day after his 83rd birthday.

"It's a good steer," they murmured. "He'll never stand for the art.'

Rockefeller drove up in his car.

"What is it, boys?" he asked.

"Pictures of you," he was told.

"All right," he replied, "but well all go to church first."

The photographers, a Catholic, a Protestant and a Jew, were led into church by Rockefeller.

Following the service, the oil king made good his promise. Always camera shy, he posed until the photographers used up all their plates.

SMOOTH FORGERY IS REVEALED

"Arthur Murray" Gets $22.53 on Alleged Bad Check

Police anticipated Monday that a flood of worthless checks will turn up in Lima as the result of operations by a clever forger whose first handiwork was brought to light when J. L. Wiese, proprietor of a grocery at Elm and Union-sts, sought to bank a check for $22.35 accepted Saturday night.

A check protector, addressing outfit and numbering device was used by the alleged forger who signed his name "Arthur Murray," police were informed. It was one of the smoothest forgery jobs ever pulled in Lima, officers declare.

It appeared that the check was made out by the Erie Coal Co., 812 St. Johns-ave, to "Arthur Murray." The coal concern's name was printed in the upper left hand corner and in the opposite corner "No. 488" was stamped. Name of M. Frankhart was forged.

Wiese said the man put up a hard luck story and the paper seemed genuine, so he cashed it with few questions being asked. The number of the check is out of line with the series now being issued by the coal company and difference in numbering and lettering was apparent when Wiese presented the paper at the City Bank.

The thoro makeup of the check led police to believe the man was able to put others across in the city, but no more appeared up to noon Monday.

Wiese said "Murray" is of medium heighth, stout and easy to pick out because of a florid complexion.

THIEF GETS $121

Grand Union Tea Store Robbed Over Sunday

A thief, believed to have hidden himself in the basement of the Grand Union Tea Co., store 217 W. High-st, robbed the place of $121 in cash sometime between 9 p m. Saturday and 7 a. m. Monday, according to police.

When the store was opened Monday it was discovered a square iron safe had been opened. Seventy dollars was contained in a drawer and the remainder in a box, which had been taken out and placed atop a desk. A number of checks were in plain view, but were not disturbed.

A door leading to the basement was ajar and no entrances from the outside were found open, leading to the belief that the thief had in some way secreted himself until the coast was clear Police believe the visitors left thru the rear door and sprang the night lock as he closed it.

An inventory will be taken to ascertain if anything else was taken.

SAFETY LAW DEAD SAYS JUDGE

Majority Decision Nullifies Statute, Wanamaker Declares

DEPLORES ACT OF COURT

Provision Saved Many Lives During Its Existence

COLUMBUS — (United Press)—The state statute, requiring that dangerous machinery in factories and workshops be safeguarded to protect lives and limbs of employes, was nullified by a majority decision of the Ohio supreme court, Judge R M Wanamaker declared in a dissenting opinion today.

The case was that of Frank Sniegowski Toledo, who brought suit against the Toledo Cooker Company for damages as a result of injuries received in a heavy punching press

Not content with the compensation provided in the workmen's compensation fund, Sniegowski, sued on the grounds that the statute requiring safeguarding of dangerous machinery had been violated.

COURTS DISAGREE

Common pleas court decided against the employe but this decision was later reversed by the court of appeals Supreme court then by a vote of 4 to 3, reversed the court of appeals and in final judgment held against Sniegowski. Justices Marshall and Johnson joined Wanamaker in dissenting.

Justice Wanamaker concluded his opinion with this statement

The statute can serve but one purpose and that is a tombstone upon which should be inscribed the following epitaph.

'Here lies buried Section 1,027, general code

'Born in the general asembly of Ohio 1900

Died in Ohio Supreme Court, 1922

'Aged 22 years

'During its brief existence, it saved many lives and limbs and protected thousands of workingmen from dangerous machinery. Blessings on its memory.'"

MRS. F. X. EBNER ASKS DIVORCE

Wife of Blacksmith Charges She Was Maltreated

Action for divorce was instituted in common pleas court Monday by Mrs. Catherine Ebner, 636 S Scott-st. She alleges that the defendant Francis X. Ebner, a blacksmith came home intoxicated October 3, 1921 and in an altercation with her, struck her in the face.

She also charges that he beat and maltreated her. The plaintiff is the mother of one daughter and 10 sons The eldest is 26 and the youngest nine years.

Ebner, according to the petition, sought to turn the children away from the mother. He is charged with calling her bad names in their presence and encouraging them to disobey her.

MOVE TO SPEED UP ROAD WORK

Projects Lagging, Division Engineer Asserts

INSPECTORS CALLED IN

Two Inspectors and Engineer Dropped in Shakeup

Steps looking toward more rapid construction of state aid roads in Allen-co will be taken by G. F. Clements, division engineer, he announced Monday.

Work has been lagging on several projects. A trip made over Allen-co and the remainder of the highway district during the past week, is believed to have caused the decision to expedite construction.

A meeting of all inspectors in the county has been called for Monday evening, in the offices of the highway department.

Each man will have to show the division engineer good cause if work on his section is lagging behind the schedule set by the state.

A shakeup of the state road forces in Allen-co ocurred last week when two inspectors and a engineer were let out. Others are to follow, if they cannot deliver the goods, it is said.

Complaints regarding the work of some of the inspectors is said to have originated with county commissioners.

While delay in the work is stated as cause of the shakeup, there are other reasons, it is alleged. In one case, county commissioners say, an inspector passed several loads of stone that was below grade.

County commissioners will take no hand in the meeting, Glen Wallace, clerk said.

"We have nothing to do with the work," he said, "it is up to the state. Requirements of the highway department are very rigid and even if an inspector passes the examination, he must hit the ball."

SPEED UP MADE

Clements said he called the meeting to learn what can be done to get some of the roads built more rapidly. Things are going too slowly, in his opinion.

The Westminster-New Hampshire road improvement, one and five-tenths miles long, will probably be the first unit of the 1922 state aid program to be opened for traffic.

R. Stone, Lima, contractor, expects to finish the section about August 15.

Sale of the last two sections of the Harding Highway, across Marion and Hardin-cos will be made July 14. The work is already in progress on three sections in Allen-co and the link from Elida to Scotts Crossing, is to sell July 21.

SON 90, ANOTHER 7, ARE MOURNERS AT FUNERAL OF "UNCLE" JOHN SHELL

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (Associated Press) — Among the many mourners at the funeral of "Uncle" John Shell, 134 years old, were his two sons William, aged 90, and Albert, seven, it became known here today when news was received that the oldest white man in the world had died July 6 at his home at Creasy Creek. Albert is the offspring of a second marriage, Uncle John's first wife, who is said to have been two years his senior, having died about ten years ago.

The aged man retained full possession of his faculties to the last and discussed his funeral arrangements with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Creech with whom he had made his home since he lost his own place thru the foreclosure of a mortgage several months ago. He was said to have been born in Tennessee, September 3, 1788, the son of Samuel Shell, a gun maker. Up until the time he was "discovered" about four years ago, "Uncle" John, it is said, had led a secluded life in the mountain country but since then he had traveled considerably exhibiting himself at state fairs.

In 1919 he took his first airplane ride. On his visits to cities "Uncle" John told newspaper interviewers that he remembered once of having seen Daniel Boone and that he recalled the general mourning that followed the death of General Washington. He said he was too old to enlist in the Mexican war.

MINES SCHEDULED TO OPEN TODAY

Sheriff Prepares for Trouble in Southern Ohio Field

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) With a peaceful week-end passed in the coal mining districts of the state, attention was turned today upon the Gallipolis mining area where several mines closed last week were scheduled to resume operation under the protection of county officials, and to St. Clairsville, where a grand jury was to convene to consider the cases of 13 men arrested in connection with the shooting of John Majors, strip mine employe, last week.

The situation at the mines near Gallipolis, most of which are located at Cheshire, was brought about last Friday when men alleged to have been union miners, were said to have threatened non-union employes with firearms and prevailed upon them to cease work. Sheriff Swanson of Gallia-co swore in extra deputies and announced that they would be stationed at the mines today and that work would be resumed. Announcement was made from mine union officials at Pomeroy, nearby, that no threats had been made at the Cheshire mines.

The 13 men under arrest at St. Clairsville were being held on suspicion in connection with Majors' death. He was shot by alleged union miners when he and two others were going to work at a strip mine near Lafferty, having refused to heed requests of the men that they stay away from the mine. Majors' two companions were injured by shots fired from a group said to have been composed of approximately 200 men.

HOPE IS BLASTED

Extension of State Aid Road Program Refused

Hopes entertained by the board of county commissioners to extend Allen-co's 1922 state aid program have been blasted by the state highway department.

Efforts were made recently by the commissionersto induce Leon C. Herrick, highway director, to extend aid to a mile stretch from the city limits to McBeth park and on a section from Delphos north to the county line.

Monday the commissioners were informed there is nothing doing at present. Until other projects under construction are completed, the department is unable to make any promise, the commissioners were told.

Kansas, where state troops also were ordered by Governor Allen.

Several deputies working under Marshal I. K. Pearshall, of Kansas City were sent to Slater, Mo., where strikers for several days had been in virtual control of the Chicago and Alton shops and the town.

Mobilization of special deputies under federal marshals was made for the additional protection of mails and property of railroads in the hands of receivers appointed by United States courts.

Officials of the Missouri Pacific, announced the annulment of thirty passenger trains on the company's eastern division, adding that trains on other divisions probably would be discontinued at the same time.

All train service on the International and Great Northern from Georgetown to Roundrack, Texas, was suspended.

Governor Taylor of Tennesse received appeals to send troops to Memphis to protect properties and employes of the Frisco lines.

WRECK IS PROBED

Investigations by state authorities in Kansas of the wreck of the Golden State Limited on the Rock Island at Topeka were under way. The state also took part in the investigation of a wreck at Burton Saturday.

Disorders spread to the east when the homes of two Baltimore & Ohio employes who refused to join the strike were bombed at New Castle, Pa. A striker was shot at New Castle.

Two workmen for the Missouri Pacific at Monroe, La., were fired upon and wounded. A former employe was arrested, charged with the shooting.

In most places where appeals for troops were made, the strikers said all possible efforts would be made to preserve order and they denounced the call for troops.

At Knoxville, Tenn., a policeman and a negro striker exchanged thirty shots in a running pistol fight which resulted in no casualties.

Special details of police were assigned to railroad shop and yard districts in Chicago, Denver, New York and other cities thruout the country.

In New York strikers explained their position in an "open letter to commuters on the Erie," placing the responsibility upon the United States railway labor board.

Circulars addressed "to the shopmen, maintenance of way men, clerks and others affected by the wage reductions," urging defiance of the courts and the armed forces of the United States were reported to have been found on the doorsteps of many railroad workers in New York. Union leaders said the cirular would at once be turned over to federal authorities.

The circulars were said to have been signed J. Davis, executive secretary, central committee of the Communist party of America.

CONFERENCE IS ARRANGED

E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the railway clerks, had a conference arranged today with the railroad labor board over issues upon which hinged a potential strike of clerks.

At Wilkesbarre, Pa., William B. Roberts, vice president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes announced a meeting Wednesday of twenty-two district chairmen representing 28 railroads in the east on the question of wage cuts by the labor board.

CALL FOR POLICE

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — Patrolmen were rushed to the Hocking Valley railroad shops here today on complaint of road officials that 200 strikers were gathering near the company's property.

The patrolmen remained in the shops districts altho no disorder was reported.

Hocking Valley officials notified strikers that failure to return to work by noon today means forfeiture of seniority rights and other privileges.

Strike observers viewed the request of Pennsylvania officials that strikers turn in their passes, keys and other company property when they are paid today, as tantamount to formal discharge.

PROTECTION INCREASES

AKRON — (United Press) — Railroad officials doubled their force of guards around shops here today, as reports of impending mob violence by strikers became current.

Feeling between strikers and strike-breakers was said to be running high.

Reports from the Erie roundhouse at Kent said a warning that mobs of strikers would storm the building, had been served on Mayor W. O. Hollister.

Baltimore and Ohio officials here, however, reported their shop forces practically normal. Superintendent Stephens said importation of 110 men since Saturday had brought the shop forces up to "full operating strength."

WILL NOT STRIKE

ST. LOUIS.—(Associated Press.) Foremen and supervisors of mechanics, who are members of the International Association of Railroad Supervisors of Mechanics, should not join the shopmen's strike unless compelled to perform work that would make them strikebreakers W. V. O'Neil, international president, told The Associated press today.

O'Neil telegraphed the heads of the four grand brotherhoods—engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen—to this effect today after receiving reports that foremen were to join the strike.

RELIEF FROM HEAT IS SEEN

Wrath of the gods was visited on the city of Lima Monday in the form of sunbeams that threatened to reduce the weight of every citizen at least a few pounds.

Despite a slight breeze that was felt only in the shaded nooks, the city was a playground for the warmest beams Old Sol could visit upon the earth.

Relief, however, is predicted by the weather man in the shape of showers and thunderstorms he promises will visit this area Monday night and Tuesday. At any rate, he says, the temperature will decline Tuesday.

Cooler, is the general prediction for these parts.

How much cooler, he fails to say.

FARM HOME SAVED BY FIREMEN

City Safety Men Make Sunday Run Into the Country

Lima fire department saved a large farmhouse belonging to Ed Bruning, a mile and a half northwest of the city, from destruction Sunday at 4 p. m. when a run was made after flames communicated from a burning barn. The latter structure was burned to the ground, with a loss of $3,000.

Frantic attempts of neighbors to extinguish the fire were fruitless. When they saw flames jump to a shed between the barn and house they called the department, which arrived as the roof of the residence was bursting into flames. Chemicals were used and the shed torn down to prevent further spread of the blaze.

Origin of the fire may have been due to spontaneous combustion. Several tons of new mown hay had been placed in the barn the day previous. There was no livestock in the barn and little farm machinery and tools, according to information supplied the department.

The family was absent at the time. Bruning and wife had started for Dayton an hour before the fire was discovered.

One of the neighbors had his face and hands badly burned while forming a part of a bucket brigade.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IN COLLINS WILL CASE EXPECTED; COURT ACTS

Appeal of the famous Collins will case to higher courts is now regarded as almost a certainty.

Motion to direct the verdict in the case filed by counsel for Perry Collins, son of Samuel Collins, has been overruled in common pleas court. Action of the court is a point in favor of Dorothy Collins, 418 S. Cole-st, who was successful in breaking the will and obtaining a verdict for $125,000.

A motion for a new trial is yet to be heard in the case. If overruled steps will be instituted immediately to carry the case to Appeal court, attorneys state.

PARLEY ON RELEASE OF BOOTLEGGERS FROM JAIL FAILS TO MATERIALIZE

Members of the board of county commissioners expected the city officials to call at their office during the morning hours. No one appeared prior to noon, however.

51,503 IS POPULATION OF LIMA, ACCORDING TO NEW CITY DIRECTORY

Lima's present population is placed at 51,503 by the R. H. Polk Co., whose representative distributed the 1922 directory for this city Monday.

The new list of citizens is slightly larger than any previous one issued.

It credits Lima with a growth of nearly 10,000 since the official United States census was taken in 1920.

The directory points to the fact that the city is the capital of Allen-co and caters to a large extra-urban population.

The directory is the twenty-first edition for this city.

CITY PLANS WAR AGAINST HOUSE TO HOUSE PEDDLERS

House to house peddlers and itinerant canvassers are the ones against whom the city of Lima is waging war, and not commercial traveling salesmen handling reputable lines of goods, C. A. Bingham, city manager, told representatives of the U. C. T. association Monday.

Considerable ill feeling has been engendered among traveling salesmen who have been told that Lima is against traveling salesmen and has started enforcing laws against them, Pat R. Goonan and E. H. Hawisher told Bingham.

Misrepresenting merchandise is the main forte of the house to house operators and thousands of dollars have been lost by householders because of them, Bingham believes. It it to stop this that the city is determined upon, he said.

Commercial travelers sell merchandise to stores and not to the consumers. They represent reputable lines of business and as they are in business from year to year are to be encouraged, Bingham said. More than 900 travelers work out of Lima, Goonan said.

FRAUD ALLEGED BY SUIT CLUB MEMBERS; RECOVERY OF MONEY ASKED IN COURT

Trial of actions alleging fraud brought against the Field Tailoring Co. by E. E. Hackenberger and Joe Lorth, former members of a suit club operated by the concern, commenced in common pleas court at noon Monday.

A jury is trying the case, before Judge Fred C. Becker.

Both actions were started to recover money alleged to have been paid into the suit club by the plaintiffs. The plan was to pay $1 a week for 40 weeks and secure a $40 suit.

The plaintiffs alleged they paid in their money and were not given suits and that defendant company refused to make a refund.

6 ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS

One Admits It, Two Deny and Another Forfeits Bond

Two of a quartette of men arrested on drunkenness and disorderly charges pleaded not guilty Monday in criminal court. Maurice Joyce, 42, of 400 N. Jackson-st, and Frank Holmes, 56, will be given hearings, the former Tuesday at 9 a. m. and the latter Wednesday at 3:45 p. m.,

Martin Elvard, 44, pleaded guilty, and Chandler Hulbert, 27, Rowlands Row, forfeited $25 bond. Elvard drew a fine of $15.

Police say Hulbert attempted to resist an officer Saturday night when policemen sought to search his house for an alleged liquor cache. Entrance was forced, but nothing discovered. Hulbert was fined $50 three weeks ago and given a jail sentence for driving an auto while intoxicated.

Two more awaited arraignment Monday on drunkenness charges. Edward Sutton, 62, of 1812 W. Wayne-st, and Charles Whitson, 45, were arrested at noon, the latter on N. Central-ave, police say.

OTHER CITIES PLAN TO PATTERN AFTER LIMA'S FORM OF GOVERNMENT

That Lima is one of the leading cities in the United States when its form of government is considered, has been recognized by the National Institute of Public administration.

In a letter to C. A. Bingham, city manager, the director of the institute, Luther Gulick, states he will send one of their young engineers here to study Lima methods.

This action is in response to an invitation extended by Manager Bingham and is for the purpose of providing eligibles for positions as managers thruout the country. The student wil pay all of his own expenses and is expected about September 1.

Calls for city managers are becoming numerous, Bingham said. An inquiry from Alexandria, Virginia, was received Monday asking for the names and addresses of available city managers. Another was received from Kenosha, Wis. last week, Bingham said.

JOHN D. SNAPPED

TARRYTOWN, N. Y. — (United Press) — The millineum for newspaper reporters has come—John D. Rockefeller consented to have himself snapped in poses.

But the world's richest man was photographed on his own terms. Three photographers were assigned to photograph Rockefeller yesterday as he entered New Community church here, the day after his 83rd birthday.

"It's a good steer," they murmured. "He'll never stand for the art."

Rockefeller drove up in his car.

"What is it, boys?" he asked.

"Pictures of you," he was told.

"All right," he replied, "but well all go to church first."

The photographers, a Catholic, a Protestant and a Jew, were led into church by Rockefeller.

Following the service, the oil king made good his promise. Always camera shy, he posed until the photographers used up all their plates.

SMOOTH FORGERY IS REVEALED

"Arthur Murray" Gets $22.53 on Alleged Bad Check

Police anticipated Monday that a flood of worthless checks will turn up in Lima as the result of operations by a clever forger whose first handiwork was brought to light when J. L. Wiese, proprietor of a grocery at Elm and Union-sts, sought to bank a check for $22.35 accepted Saturday night.

A check protector, addressing outfit and numbering device was used by the alleged forger who signed his name "Arthur Murray," police were informed. It was one of the smoothest forgery jobs ever pulled in Lima, officers declare.

It appeared that the check was made out by the Erie Coal Co., 912 St. Johns-ave, to "Arthur Murray." The coal concern's name was printed in the upper left hand corner and in the opposite corner "No. 488" was stamped. Name of M. Frankhart was forged.

Wiese said the man put up a hard luck story and the paper seemed genuine, so he cashed it with few questions being asked. The number of the check is out of line with the series now being issued by the coal company and difference in numbering and lettering was apparent when Wiese presented the paper at the City Bank.

The thoro makeup of the check led police to believe the man was able to put others across in the city, but no more appeared up to noon Monday.

Wiese said "Murray" is of medium heighth, stout and easy to pick out because of a florid complexion.

THIEF GETS $121

Grand Union Tea Store Robbed Over Sunday

A thief, believed to have hidden himself in the basement of the Grand Union Tea Co., store 217 W. High-st, robbed the place of $121 in cash sometime between 9 p. m. Saturday and 7 a. m. Monday, according to police.

When the store was opened Monday it was discovered a square iron safe had been opened. Seventy dollars was contained in a drawer and the remainder in a box, which had been taken out and placed atop a desk. A number of checks were in plain view, but were not disturbed.

A door leading to the basement was ajar and no entrances from the outside were found open, leading to the belief that the thief had in some way secreted himself until the coast was clear. Police believe the visitors left thru the rear door and sprang the night lock as he closed it.

An inventory will be taken to ascertain if anything else was taken.

MRS. F. X. EBNER ASKS DIVORCE

Wife of Blacksmith Charges She Was Maltreated

Action for divorce was instituted in common pleas court Monday by Mrs. Catherine Ebner, 636 S Scott-st. She alleges that the defendant Francis X. Ebner, a blacksmith came home intoxicated October 3, 1921 and in an altercation with her, struck her in the face.

She also charges that he beat and maltreated her. The plaintiff is the mother of one daughter and 10 sons. The eldest is 26 and the youngest nine years.

Ebner, according to the petition, sought to turn the children away from the mother. He is charged with calling her bad names in their presence and encouraging them to disobey her.

They were married in 1894 and became estranged nine years ago. For the sake of the children, they lived under the same roof, the wife says.

For three years past, the wife asserts, she has been dependent for support upon her own efforts and charity of relatives.

At request of counsel, Judge Fred C. Becker, Monday issued a temporary order, restraining Ebner from disposing of real and personal property held in common and from interfering with or molesting the plaintiff.

The wife asks care and custody of minor children. They are: Herbert, 21; Francis, 19; Otto, 18; Rupert, 16; Theodore, 14; Claude, 12; William, 11, and Paul, 9.

Temporary alimony for support of herself and children is asked.

ALLEN-CO A LEADER

ALLEN-CO, accustomed as it is to smashing records along various lines, very properly is establishing precedent in the matter of cattle and hog raising. This particular part and parcel of the Buckeye commonwealth has long been famed for high grade domestic livestock, but new laurels are being added constantly. This county is a leader.

There is perhaps no line of endeavor more desirable—or more remunerative when properly conducted—than stock raising. Allen-co is possessed of broad and fertile acres for agriculture and along with it very properly goes the important work of aiding in supplying the food markets of the world with meat.

More careful selection of breeding animals, particularly cattle and hogs, has resulted in a bigger, better, more desirable type of stock than in former days. Buyers have learned to look to Allen-co as a leader in this direction. Records of shipments made to the eastern markets indicate that Ohio is doing its big part in the general scheme of production and among the counties of the state, Allen stands out probably the most prominently. Our county is undeniably a leader.

In these latter days, farming and stock raising is reduced to a science. Well established principles of procedure are applied. Short cuts to success are attained with aid given by the Farm Bureau and cooperative efforts along other lines. The wise agriculturist and stock breeder keeps in touch with modern development and profits by the mistakes of others.

ROCKEFELLER'S DIMES

THE world's richest man, John D. Rockefeller, goes to a circus.

He laughs at the clowns, feeds peanuts to the elephants, applauds the hair-raising acrobatic acts and buys pink lemonade and "hot dogs."

All around, it is a complete circus day, even to his daughter-in-law having her tintype taken on the Midway.

"It brought back memories of boyhood days," said John O.

And it probably is a safe bet that he had the best time on circus day that he had had in a year, tho the diversion was of the inexpensive sort within the means of the man who can count the dollars of his weekly pay envelope on his fingers.

The greatest joys of life, for rich or poor, involve simple things. And our greatest pleasures are inexpensive. Money is desirable, but it is not everything. This may be platitudinous. Most platitudes, however, are true and philosophical.

The mob that followed John D. Rockefeller about the circus was most interested in the dimes he gave to 200 of the fun producers.

John D. always carries a pocketful of dimes—and never appears in public without distributing some of them.

He is rich enough to distribute $5 gold pieces. They, however, would be quickly spent. He is shrewd enough to know that nearly every one would save a dime from the world's richest man, as a "lucky piece."

In his unique psychological way, Rockefeller is trying to impress the public with the value of the humble dime. Pennies might be hurled back at him in derision. But none except drunken men ever threw away a dime. Probably John D. is like the rest of us, and would spend dollars of time trying to recover a dime lost thru a sidewalk grating.

You see Rockefeller, with his dimes, spreading the wisdom of thrift with all the cunning theatrical instinct of Phineas T. Barnum.

After all, it was thrift that gave him his start, back in the days when he was a bookkeeper toiling for $35 a month.

He learned to handle dimes before he was able to handle dollars. So did Henry Ford, when he was a machinist. So did Schwab, when he was a day-worker in the steel mills.

Comfortable financial independence is a matter of plain old-fashioned thrift, tho expanding the modest fortune to a gigantic fortune depends on ability and chance.

SUMMER LETHARGY

IT'S here. So-called summertime slowup of the human will, of business and progress generally. But it's a fallacy, the most part of the way.

In the language of the old woman who never before saw a giraffe, after looking at one of the long-necked quadrupeds in a zoo, she said "there ain't no such animal."

Those who "get by" best during the heated period are the ones who maintain their customary routine the most "religiously." It is doing the unusual thing while the mercury mounts and one's system is taxed in an extra manner, which is freighted with the most danger for the individual.

A vacation is much to be desired, but it is a positive detriment when individuals employ the time given to it in extraordinary exertion; in doing things out of the ordinary; in courting the danger of bringing on illness by very reason of unaccustomed pursuits.

Vacations are intended to be rest periods, but with motor mania, the desire for long and strenuous trips to strange places, change of drinking water, foodstuffs and climate, one courts the danger of precipitating illness. Good judgment applied is lacking in many cases. That's the reason why doctors report unusually large numbers of cases of sickness at this particular time of the year.

All this means that one should exercise extraordinary care and caution during the heated period, whether remaining at his accustomed activities or on a vacation. It remains true that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

THE TWIRLERS

Old Walter Johnson's going strong,
Rube Marquard's still upon the mound,
Bob Shawkey's pitching right along,
Dutch Reuther's hale and well and sound,
It's seldom that the batters pound
Waite Hoyt, a clever kid and natty,
And Coveleski's much renowned—
But what's the latest news of Matty?

Phil Douglas spins a wicked ball,
Carl Mays retains his ancient knack
At fanning batters, short and tall,
Joe Bush is far from going back,
Jeff Barnes does not appear to crack,
And Shocker drives the batters batty,
But Big Six stays at Saranac—
Say, what's the latest news of Matty?

Toney and Meadows pitch with skill,
Grove Alexander's with us yet,
Faber and Nehf and Cooper still
Can make the toughest sluggers sweat,
Doak is quite a rooters' pet,
His stuff is very far from ratty,
But there's a man I can't forget—
Say, what's the latest news of Matty.

Concerning hurlers of the sphere
The rooters often grow quite chatty
But it's of Big Six I would hear—
Say, what's the latest news of Matty?

HEALTH TALKS

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

FOOD IN HOT WEATHER

The hot weather season is when the good housewife has her greatest chances to show her superiority in the economical care of food. She knows that food spoils quickly in hot weather, and she is therefore careful to buy no more than she can keep successfully, nor does she, after buying it, allow it to be around without being put away in a proper place. For, she knows, it is an important factor in family health to see that no spoiled foods are served.

There are certain foods that spoil quickly unless kept under proper conditions. Various conditions affect the wholesomeness of foods, too; for example, air, the dishes in which foods are put, the ice-box and other storage places. The foods that spoil most quickly are cream, milk, uncooked fresh meats, certain ripe fruits, such as berries, plums, and peaches, and some of the table vegetables.

The wrapping paper on meats absorbs the juices and therefore should be removed upon delivery from the butcher-shop. Remove the paper, wipe the meat with a clean cloth that has been wrung out in cold water and then place it in a dish in the ice-box. Uncooked fish should not be put in the ice-box, as odors rise upward. All strongly flavored foods should be put on the top shelf of the ice-box.

A cool dry basement or cellar is much better for fruits than the ice-box. Ripe fruits quickly spoil and should be bought in small quantities.

Butter readily absorbs the odors from other foods and should be kept cool and well-covered or wrapped. Eggs should be kept dry and cool. During the summer months, cereals are likely to spoil, and should be purchased in small quantities and kept covered in glass jars to prevent becoming wormy.

Shame on Them.

PERHAPS there are a few mothers who do not know the virtues of Fletcher's Castoria. Perhaps there are a few who know that there are imitations on the market, and knowing this demand Fletcher's. It is to ALL motherhood, then, that we call attention to the numerous imitations and counterfeits that may be set before them.

It is to all motherhood everywhere that we ring out the warning to beware of the "Just-as-good". For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been an aid in the upbuilding of our population; an aid in the saving of babies.

And yet there are those who would ask you to try something new. Try this. Try that. Even try the same remedy for the tiny, scarcely breathing, babe that you in all your robust womanhood would use for yourself. Shame on them.

Your Friend, the Physician.

The history of all medicines carries with it the story of battles against popular beliefs: fights against prejudice: even differences of opinion among scientists and men devoting their lives to research work; laboring always for the betterment of mankind. This information is at the hand of all physicians. He is with you at a moment's call, be the trouble trifling or great. He is your friend, your household counselor. He is the one to whom you can always look for advice even though it might not be a case of sickness. He is not just a doctor. He is a student to his last and final call. His patients are his family and to lose one is little less than losing one of his own flesh and blood.

Believe him when he tells you—as he will—that Fletcher's Castoria has never harmed the littlest babe, and that it is a good thing to keep in the house. He knows.

WITH APOLOGIES

BY OH, OH, JACKEARIM

A Page from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter: I up and in facetious humor. Down to sweet cakes and a rasher of bacon, and ate to satiety. Read in the papers of a sad accident to a dear friend, and in sorrow thereat. So out and thru the towne, and what with this and that busy all the morning.

To my scrivening and it in midsummer, does become a sisyphean task which puts me in ill humor. Albeit, by the while comes one of Ed Oglevie's little boys, with a telegram telling me to buy much of this stock; and gave its name, and forth with I a fortune would make. It was a straight tip, so I hurried with money to the Citizens Building & Loan and told them to take it quickly before temptation seized me. Over on Market-st saw a girl in khaki nickers, but wearing of French heels therewith. Like the young snake who went to the wedding reception in a Tuxedo and tan shoes. To the office whence, and in flew a birdie, telling of the championship record made by a county road truck, which traveled 57 miles to haul nine yards of stone. And passed by a quarry every three miles to get to the last one. Sweeps a wierd, uncanny, subtle, yet artful, plaintive melody thru the windows and learn a dentist friend has installed a Victrola and is doing away with local anethesia depending upon jazz.

Home, to lunch on corn fritters, and beans with side meat, very sweet. In his electric, doffed my chapeau to the Rev. Father Manning, whom I have always much admired. Years ago to me he gave his photograph, with this quatrain: "In frenzied love some give their hearts; in Friendship some their pelf; Make way, yo souls of little parts, Here Manning gives himself." And the likeness of the good father and the quatrain hangs in my honor gallery.

In the afternoon, strolled down the avenoo and the shoppes all bussed with women, women everywhere. There's J. R. Cuthbert, the chemist, whose advice is better safe, than sorry. And Tom Pearman, new head of the Y. M. C. A., a true thorobred. Rollie Mikesell, the songbird, and Charlie Tappen, who makes the spark plugs ignite. E. A. Williams, the truck king, on his way to the golf links. Watched the motor cop. He's fine on the vehicles, but what he does to the pedestrians will be written some day at St. Rita's.

Dined at home on roast beef and everything, and in the evening cranked the runabit and it did. So, out to the west side to look over the repairs, and then to shoot the chutes on the Metcalf-st bridge, the structure taking longer to complete than the great Woolworth Tower. Home to find my wife, poor wretch darning at undies. And slipping out, walked down to the Argonne druggery and returning, gave to her a pound of Samplers. Then read long on a zippy and salacious story of two men and one woman. And she threw both of em, which they well deserved.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:

WHAT do you think of a young girl who does not care for my company in the little friendly gatherings at home, but who is quite proud to be with me when I have a social affair to attend

BOBBY

ANYONE would naturally conclude, Bobby, that the girl looks upon you merely as a meal ticket, a dance or theatre ticket. You should use your own judgment about furthering your relations with her, but the situation is sufficiently unflattering to you to permit some more appreciative young maiden to share your social festivities.

Dear Miss Smart:

Kindly answer the following questions. (1) What is the rule for introducing people to one another? (2) If you have known a boy for quite a while, would it be proper to get him something for his birthday? My parents approve. (3) For surprise parties, what should one serve and at whose home should it be given: by the person giving the party or at the home of the person it is honoring?

INQUISITIVE

In presenting a girl to a man, simply say, "Miss Blank, I want you to meet Mr. Blank." When introducing an older person to a young girl or man, always mention the older person first. When introducing a girl to a man the man always rises. When the girl is seated, however, and you desire to give an introduction to a man, she remains seated. (2) It is all right to give the boy some small remembrance, if your parents approve. (3) For this time of year, it is better to serve a very light luncheon, rather than an elaborate one. Ice cream, either plain or with crushed fruit, small cakes and an iced drink, makes an acceptable evening repast. Salted nuts or candies may be added.

A surprise party is usually given at the home of the person to be honored, altho the hostess can give it at her own home, if she desires.

WHOM SHALL MOLLY MARRY?

"YES," SAYS BRAIN; "NO," SAYS HEART

The Elopement—With Firm Resolve and Shaking Heart, Molly Crosses Her Rubicon

By ZOE BECKLEY

Swept off her feet by romantic love-making, MOLLY WANE consents to marry DON MANNING, one of three men who are in love with her. Manning, leading man in the local stock company, induces Molly to go with him on the midnight express to Pittsburgh. When BEN WHEELER, efficient manufacturer, who loves Molly, learns the news, he flies into a rage and threatens to show Manning up. Molly drives home with her third lover, BILLY BARTON, a young architect. He tries to prevent Molly reaching the station by wrecking his automobile but Molly proceeds in the machine of her employer, Mr. Bennings.

BANKER BENNINGS glanced uneasily at the secretary he had thought "as sure as an adding machine." Not that he disapproved marriage in general, even for his own valued employe, but Molly's manner had all the symptoms of sudden, immature decision.

"I wish you happiness," said he. "And if ever you need—anything, count on me."

She thanked Bennings and the talk was impersonal and brief till they came into the square before the station. From the main entrance Donald Manning came hurrying as he caught sight of Molly. With a nervous, "Thank you and—goodby" Molly left Bennings joined Don. They moved off instinctively into the shadow.

"Oh, Molly, dearest, you've come!" Don whispered eagerly.

With her mind and will set on her answer, a proud, wholehearted "Yes," Molly was frightened to find she could not frame the word with her lips, or nod, or even show it in her eyes. Something, she didn't know what, was keeping her from surrender, even after her conscious self had willed it.

Don Manning knew the cause and the cure for it. The May madness that still held him in thrall was lifted from Molly, freeing her mind and her senses. If he ddn't prevent it, her brain would clear, his power and plans be at an end.

He took her face between his hands, gently, tenderly. With the practiced technique of a hundred stage love scenes he tilted her face to his, held her eyes with his own burning glance till he saw them soften and dream, bent his lips to hers and whispered, ever so faintly:

"OH, DON, DARLING, IF YOU DESERT ME I—I SHALL DIE."

"Oh, my dearest, say the sweetest word in life to me—say you love me—say it."

Against whatever had held back the words Molly wanted to utter, there surged a mad something thru her blood at Don's touch and kiss, a something as irresistible as the tempest.

"Yes," she breathed. "Oh, Don, I—"

Again the words froze upon her lips, but this time at the sound of Manning's name cried aloud from somewhere on the dim station behind them. It was a woman's cry, a woman in panic, calling for reassurance.

"Donny!" came the voice. "Donny, where are you!"

Manning of the matinee presence, seemed suddenly stricken with realistic fear. Two figures sped toward them as they stood at the far dark edge of the platform. As they crossed a shaft of light, Molly saw one was Ben Wheeler, the other a woman older than Molly, pathetically gay in theatrical garb, but on her face the signal of a woman's elemental fear. Molly sprang away from Don as the woman caught sight of them. With a child's abandon of panic, the newcomer flung herself at Manning's breast.

"Oh, Don, darling," she panted, "If you desert me, I—I shall die!"

"A PENNY saved is a penny earned." In his day, pennies were as large as our quarters. But Poor Richard's advice is still good. And it is no less valuable when applied to dollars instead of cents.

SCARAMOUCHE

By RAFAEL SABATINI

ne morning in August the acad- in the Rue du Hasard was in- ed by Le Chapelier accompanied a man of remarkable appearance, se herculean stature and disfig- countenance seemed vaguely iliar to Andre-Louis.

e Chapelier, whose manner was grave, named him to Andre- is.

This is M. Danton, a brother- yer, President of the Cordeliers, hom you will have heard."

f course Andre-Louis had heard im. Who had not, by then?

e Chapelier proceeded. "It is war between the Third Estate the Privileged."

Was it ever anything else?"

Perhaps not; but it has assumed w character. You'll have heard he duel between Lameth and the de Castries?"

A trifling affair."

n its results. But it might have far other. Mirabeau is chal- ed and insulted now at every ng. But he goes his way, cold- deedly wise. Others are no so inspect; they meet insult with lt, blow with blow, and blood is g shed in private duels. The g is reduced by these swords- of nobility to a system."

ndre-Louis nodded. He was king of Philippe de Vilmorin. ," he said, "it is an old trick heirs. It is so simple and direct ke themselves. I wonder only they didn't hit upon this system er."

But they mean to make up for time—sacred name!" cried Dan- "Challenges are flying right and between these bully-swordsmen, e spadassinicides, and poor dev- f the robe who have never learnt nce anything but a quill. It's —murder."

id Danton. "Between us we resolve the riddle of how to nguish M. de La Tour d'Azyr his friends."

erp as a pistol-shot came that tion, as Danton was turning . The tone of it brought him hort. He turned again, Le elier with him.

said M. de La Tour d'Azyr."

nd it is La Tour d'Azyr you de- me to kill?" asked Andre-Louis slowly, after the manner of one e thought are meanwhile pon- g the subject.

'hat's it," said Danton. "And a job for a prentice hand, I can e you."

h, but this alters thing," said e-Louis, thinking aloud. "It s a great temptation."

Chapelier and Danton exchang- lances, then watched him, wait- what time he considered.

turned to them again, and they that he was very pale, that his dark eyes glowed oddly.

here will probably be some dif- ty in finding a suppleant for poor Legron," he said. "Our v-countrymen will be non so r to offer themselves to the ds of Privilege."

True enough," said Le Chapel mily; and then, as if suddenly ing to the thing in Andre-Louis' l: "Andre!" he cried. "Would . . . "

t is what I was considering. It d give me a legitimate place in Assembly. If your Tour d'Azyr se to seek me out then, why, blood be upon their own heads. ll certainly do nothing to dis- ige them." He smiled curious- "I am just a rascal who tries to onest—Scaramouche always in a creature for sophistries."

CHAPTER VI

ter an absence of rather more a week, M le Marquis de La d'Azyr was back in his place he Cote Droit of the National mbly.

HE LOOKED IN THE DIRECTION OF THAT VOICE.

"M. Andre-Louis Moreau, deputy suppleant, vice Emmanuel Lagron, deceased for Anciens in the Department of the Loire."

M. de La Tour d'Azyr shook himself out of the gloomy abstraction in which he had sat. The successor of the deputy he had slain must, in any event, be an object of grim interest to him. That interest was heightened when he heard him named, when, looking across, he recognized indeed in this Andre-Louis Moreau the young scoundrel who was continually crossng his path, continually exerting against him a deeper moving, sinister influence to make him regret that he should have spared his life that day at Gavrillac two years ago.

He looked at the young man in wonder rather than in anger, and looking at him he was filled by a vague, almost a premonitory, uneasiness.

At the very outset, the presence which in itself he conceived to be a challenge was to demonstrate itself for this in no equivocal terms.

"I come before you," Andre-Louis began, "as a deputy-suppleant to fill the place of one who was murdered some three weeks ago."

It was a challenging opening that instantly provoked an indignant outcry from the Blacks. Andre-Louis paused, and looked at them, smiling a little, a singularly self-confident young man.

"The gentlemen of the Right, M. le President, do not appear to like my words. But that is not surprising. The gentlemen of the Right notoriously do not like the truth."

This time there was uproar. The members of the Left roared with laughter, those of the Right thundered menacingly.

Above the general din came the voice of La Tour d'Azyr, who had half-risen from his seat: "Mountebank! This is not the theater!"

"Non, monsieur, it is becoming a hunting-ground for bullyswordsmen," was the answer, and the uproar grew.

Gradually the uproar wore itself out and diminished so that at last the President could make himself heard. Leaning forward, he gravely addressed the young man in the tribune.

"Monsieur, if you wish to be heard let me beg of you not to be provocative in your language." And then to the others: "Messieurs, if we are to proceed, I beg that you will restrain your feelings until the deputy-suppleant has concluded his discourse."

"I shall endeavor to obey, M. le President, leaving provocation to the gentlemen of the Right. But it was necessary that I should refer to the distinguished deputy whose place I come so unworthily to fill, and it was unavoidable that I should refer to the event which has procured us this sad necessity. The deputy Lagron possessed what his opponents would call a dangerous gift of eloquence."

La Tour d'Azyr writhed at the well-known phrase—his own phrase—the phrase that he had used to explain his action in the matter of Philippe de Vilmorin, the phrase that from time to time had been cast in his teeth with such vindictive menace.

Solemnly he proceeded. "You all know how Lagron died. I trust, for the sake of those who might attempt it, that the means taken to impose sentence upon that eloquent voice will not be taken to impose silence upon mine."

There was a faint murmur of applause from the Left, a splutter of contemptuous laughter from the Right.

"Rhodomont!" a voice called to him.

He looked in the direction that voice, proceeding from the group of spadassins amid thhe Blacks. Inaudibly his lips answered:

"No, my friend—Scaramouche; Scaramouche, the subtle dangerous fellow who goes tortuously to his ends." Aloud, he resumed: "M. le President, there are some who want, it seems, no laws, but blood; I solemnly warn them that this blood will end by choking them."

Again in that phrase there was something that stirred a memory in La Tour d'Azyr. He turned in the fresh uproar to speak to his cousin Chabrillane who sat beside him.

"A daring rogue, this bastard of Gavrillac's," said he.

Chabrillane looked at him with gleaming eyes, his face white with anger.

"Let him talk himself out. I don't think he will be heard again after today. Leave this to me."

Hardly could La Tour have told why, but he sank back in his seat with a sense of relief.

Meanwhile, leaving now the subject of the death of Lagron, the deputy-suppleant was speaking upon the question under debate. His speech on the subject was very brief—that being the pretext and not the purpose for which he had ascended the tribune.

When later he was leaving the hall at the end of the sitting, with Le Chapelier at his side, he found himself densely surrounded by deputies as by a body-guard. Most of them were Bretons, who aimed at screening him from the provocations which his own provocative words in the Assembly could not fail to bring down upon his head.

Emerging now in the open, under the great awning, those in front of him dispersed a little, and there was a movement as he reached the limit of the awning when his front was entirely uncovered. Outside the rain was falling heavily, churning the ground into thick mud.

The watchful Chabrillane had seen his chance. Rudely, violently, he thrust Andre-Louis back, as if to make room for himself under the shelter.

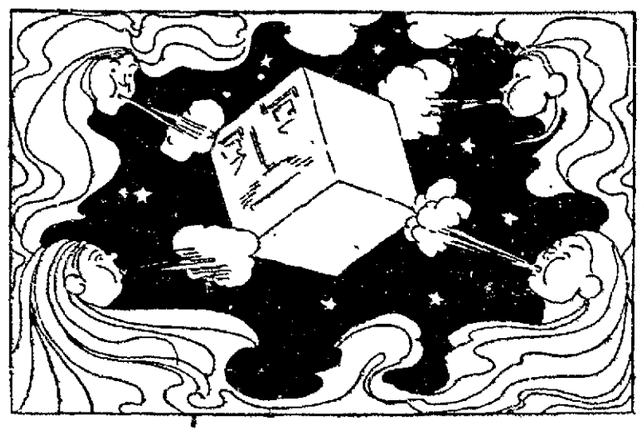
ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

HOW THE MOON WAS BLOWN ROUND

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON



"When I say, one, two, three, ready, go! All blow at once."

The Twins were riding up to the Moon on Mr. Sprinkle-Blow's umbrella. He had been telling them about Comet-Legs, the wicked fairy, who had turned the Moon square.

Mr. Peerabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, was lost, you know, and they couldn't find him.

"How did you make the Moon round again, Mr. Sprinkle-Blow?" asked Nick.

"Well, I'll tell you," answered the Weatherman, guiding the umbrella past a star with one hand and shoving away a moon-beam with the other. "I happened to think of my Four Winds, so I whistled for them.

"Winds!" said I, "look what's happened!"

"'Goodness alive!' said Old West Wind. 'How'd it happen?'

"So I told him."

"'Hurry up,' said West Wind to the other winds, without another word. 'We'll have to blow the moon round again! It's the middle of the night and most folks are asleep.

"'Perhaps down on the earth it hasn't been noticed. North Wind, you go there, and East Wind, you go there, and South Wind, you go to the other corner. I'll stay here. And when I say, one, two, three, ready go! All blow at once.'"

"And did they?" asked Nancy breathlessly.

Mr. Sprinkle-Blow waved his hand. "See for yourself, my dear. If that old Moon isn't as round as a winterapple, I'm losing my eyesight."

And so it was.

"But that's not all," said the Weatherman. "Comet-Legs heard what they said, so he stuck out his legs and got the curves blown back into them again. We'll have to watch out for him now, I tell you. He'll be able to straddle his star now and away he'll go."

Honus Wagner May Be Pirate Assistant

PITTSBURGH. — Reports that Hans Wagner, veteran major league player whose last berth was as shortstop with the Pittsburgh Nationals in 1920 had been offered an opening as assistant manager and coach of the Pirates, were made known here last night. This was said to be the latest development in Manager Bill McKechnie's plans to get the team on a sound footing.

Wagner has asked for time in which to consider the proposition. Hans, it is said, will be coach of the infielders and would act in an advisory capacity to McKechnie.

GREB-DEMPSEY GO CALLED OFF

PITTSBURGH. — Announcement that the proposed Harry Greb-Jack Dempsey bout here on Labor Day would not take place was made last night by John Bell, Pittsburgh promoter, who has been negotiating for such an attraction.

Bell stated that had Kearns accepted his offer, made nearly two weeks ago, he could have arranged the bout for Labor Day, but that the time was now too-short in which to make preparations.

Hold Scrap In Gotham

NEW YORK. — Johnny Buff will defend his bantamweight title tonight in a 15-round match with Joe Lynch, former holder of the banty crown, at the Velodrome

The champion, who also is the flyweight titleholder, is expected to weigh in around 113 pounds, while Lynch will tip the scales close to the bantam limit, 118 pounds.

Lynch took the halo from Pete Herman, only to lose it again to the redoubtable Peter some time later thru a kayo

Johnny Buff came along in a few months and socked Herman for a plate of dumplings, a big purse and the title of the little 'uns.

Buff has been ill the greater part of the summer with blood poisoning. His condition is doubted by the critics and it is probable that he will not be the same old Johnny tonight when he goes 15 frames with Joe.

WAPAK REDS TRIM ST. MARYS 2-0

WAPAKONETA — A pitchers' duel between Purtell of St. Marys and Abbott for the local Reds Sunday resulted in a 2 to 0 shutout in favor of Wapakoneta

Each twirler allowed but two singles. Fred Hontz, 50-year-old cleanup batsman for the Reds, stole home under the pitcher's nose for the first local run in the fifth. Abbott had 13 strikeouts and Purtell 11.

It was the Reds' fourth consecutive victory over St. Marys.

RELAYS PLANNED

LAWRENCE, KAN.—Preliminary plans are already under way for the Kansas Relays, which have been set tentatively for April 21, next year Dr F C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas, has been receiving assurances from other colleges that they will have entries, and he is preparing to care for teams from coast to coast.

The formal invitation to the relays will not go out until shortly after the first of the year, but already the inquiries indicate the widest interest.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

Browns Have Three Strong Contestants In Baseball Contest

KEN WILLIAMS

WHAT about Ken Williams when considering the most valuable player in the majors?

Has the home-run hitng of Williams been as valuable to the Browns as the superb pitching of Shocker and the brilliant all-round play of Sisler?

Temporarily at least Williams is hogging the spotlight that has been directed on Babe Ruth for the past three years. He is the home-run king of the American League.

Many of the home-run drives by Williams have been deciding factors in certain ball games. In addition, Williams had fielded well, and done timely hitting other than his home runs.

No doubt the slugging of Williams has had its effect on the rest of the club. His ability to hit undoubtedly inspired confidence in the entire lineup. As a result his slugging tactics have worked to advantage in more ways than one.

URBAN SHOCKER

URBAN SHOCKER of the St. Louis Browns is genetally considered the most valuable pitcher in the American League.

Shocker is a pitcher, to use the slang of the ball field, "who has everything," fine speed, a great curve, excellent change of pace and the annoying spitball.

Better yet, Shocker knows how to pitch He is one of the wisest, if not the wisest, twirler in either of the major leagues.

Shocker is game. No situation is too tough for him to face. The harder the going, the more important the series, the better he likes it.

A manager could have no better ace than Shocker. He is always ready to pitch. When some St. Louis pitcher starts to weaken Manager Fohl never needs to ask Shocker to warm up. He can usually be found in the warm-up section getting ready.

GEORGE SISLER

WHEN considering the most valuable player in the majors George Sisler, brilliant first baseman of the Browns, is entitled to a high rating.

Sisler is one of the greatest ball players the game has ever produced. The sensational first sacker hasn't a single weakness.

At the bat Sisler has maintained an average well over the .400 mark since the opening of the season. If he can keep that clip up he bids fair to wrest the crown of champion batter from Harry Heilman.

In the field he has performed brilliantly, as is his custom. His great all-round work has been one of the big factors in the game fight the Browns are making to beat the New York Yankees.

Sisler can hit and he can field. He is very fast on his feet and has a keen brain that makes it possible for him to use his speed to the best advantage.

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONES.

Hodge and Ward Toss Ball Away With Runners On

THROWING the ball away without the permission of the umpire is something a bit new in the way of ivory stuff.

In the old days, every now and then some coacher would ask a "rookie" pitcher to see the ball. Occasionally the obliging "rookie" would throw it to the coacher, who would then let the ball go by, while the runners dashed for the plate.

The players to be involved in the latest escapade of that sort were Charley O'Leary of the Yankees and Bob Hasty of the Athletics.

Several years ago in a game at the Polo Grounds with runners on second and third, O'Leary coaching on third, requested Hasty to let him look at the ball.

The umpire saved Hasty. Feeling that he should pass judgment on the ball if anything was wrong, the umpire called time just before Hasty obligingly tossed the ball to O'Leary.

Of course, O'Leary stepped out of the way and both runners scored. However, the umpire sent them both back as he had previously called time, suspending play.

Pitcher Hodge of Chicago and Second Baseman Ward of New York figure in the two freak "bonehead plays" of 1922.

Due to the concrete stands, a ball is usually rendered unfit for play when it hits the rough concrete. If the player discovers the ball is rough, he is supposed to throw it to the umpire for his inspection.

Failure to do that little thing caused some very unpleasant moments for Hodge and Ward.

In a game at Detroit, with Chicago leading by one run, Detroit got runners on first and second. Hodge, pitching, made up his mind that the ball was unfit for play, and deliberately threw it into the Detroit dugout.

The umpire in charge was forced to score the runner from second and advance the other runner to third. That runner also scored. Chicago managed to win out with a run to spare, so the "bone" on the part of Pitcher Hodge wasn't so costly as it might have been.

On Decoration Day in New York, the Yankees were leading the Athletics 2 to 1 up to the eighth. In that inning with one down, Johnson singled against the rightfield wall. The contact with the stand cut the ball badly.

It was thrown to Second Baseman Ward, who seeing that it was unfit for play, threw it into the New York dugout, which entitled Johnston to go to third. He scored on a sacrifice fly, tying up the game.

Ward himself scored the winning run in the last of the eighth, so he atoned for his boot.

CUBS WIN 8 OUT OF 9; REDS, INDIANS COP SABBATH BILLS

NEW YORK — Vic Aldridge's steady twirling checked Boston and gave Chicago its eighth victory out of nine games yesterday, enabling the Cubs to climb over Brooklyn into third place in the National League. Killifer's men are going like a house afire ,with their pitching staff in rare form, and promise to make things interesting for the leaders.

The slugging St Louis Cardinals, who also are going at a speedy clip, handed the Brooklyn Dodgers their fourth straight setback, 6 to 5 in a game filled with eleventh-hour thrills, as the Giants were idle. Rickey's men climbed to within three and a half games of the top.

Cleveland made it two in a row from the Yankees, tying the score in the ninth and winning in the thirteenth when Bob Shawkey, who relieved Jones, weakened. Bob Meusel starred at bat with a homer and three singles.

Washington defeated Detroit 13 to 7, and Cincinnati pounded out a victory over Philadelphia 9 to 3 in the latter stages of the game, Jake Daubert featuring with four hits, including a homer.

Ulrich allowed the visitors but four hits. Duff was touched for seven. Score:

Lima Uproots Root; Wins by Big Score

(BY FRANKLYN DOAN.)

BERNIE Halloran's Lima Independents slapped the offerings of Bill Root, Sidney twirler, with everything except the gate receipts and after the hectic contest was over it was found that the Lima boys had garnered 18 hits, which resulted in 15 tallies. In the first four innings things seemed to be going just right for the Sidney bunch, but in the fifth with two down Lima got six hits and eight runs, which put the old game on ice.

Many new faces were seen in the Lima lineup and they all played the kind of ball that people like to see. The Neu brothers, Marty and Otto, put much of the fight and dash in the team and did good work in driving in and scoring the runs. Harold Bible had his batting eye adjusted almost perfectly getting a homer, triple, double and a single out of five trips to the rubber. He made two beautiful catches in center field and showed that he can field as well as he can hit.

START EARLY

The home boys started rolling up their runs in the first inning when Marty Neu singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Mauder's hot liner. In the third inning Sidney gained the upper hand when four hits an error and a fly brought three tallies across the platter. Gloom and sadness prevailed around the Independent dugout. But this melancholy situation lasted but a short time, for in the fifth frame the locals began their terrible massacre.

Harold Bible started out with a single into left field and went to second on Main's sacrifice. With two out, Breshnahan took a hard one in the ribs and O. Neu had the same luck. Chuch Nichols cleared the sacks with a sizzling double. Four more successive doubles resulted in as many runs and Bible coming to bat for the second time that inning, Babe Ruthed one into the left garden and Paddocked around the bases. An error and another single resulted in another tally and Bresnahan whiffed, retiring the side. From the fateful fifth Sidney had no chance worth mentioning but the Lima boys kept on piling up until they had amassed 15 markers in eight frames.

CROWD GOOD

The crowd was estimated at 1,000 and showed that Lima people are beginning to know they have a ball team and if things keep up like they are at present, the bean town will be represented in league ball before long. The Independents begin a series with St. Marys next Sunday while the following Sabbath they will begin a three game setto with Troy. Score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The game marked the 14th played at the home yard this season, ten of which have been victories for the Lima team. Main has started nine of the games, Lefty Delmar worked four and Jimmy O'Neill climbed the mound in one.

Ralph Crozer, who was loaned to Lima by the Massillon club to pitch yesterday, arrived in Lima suffering from a slight attack of indigestion and was unable to leave his hotel at game time. He left Lima for home last night much improved.

Sacksteder, center fielder for the Sidney team, is a former Ohio State University man and has for the past five years been regarded as among the big ten all around athletes in the State. Football is where he shows best, however.

After many nice things had been said about him, Bible broke into the game a week ago in just ordinary form, but yesterday was a regular Bible day and the light-footed youngster delivered in a way that leaves no doubt as to his a bility in athletics. A single, double triple, a home run and a walk out of five times at bat, plus a fine running catch, were Bible's contribution in the Lima victory.

The Neu brothers, Marty and Otto are a real asset to the home team because the life and fight that they put into the game. Marty has signed to play with Paul Otto until he gets in shape to join the Cleveland Indians, all of which is good news to local fandom.

TRANS-MISSY MEET OPENS

OMAHA, NEB.—Play in the qualifying rounds of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament opened on the Omaha Country Club course here today with more than 200 golfers entered. Both today and tomorrow are given over to qualifying play, with the semi-finals and final matches set for the last of the week.

Altho an easy victim of Chick Evans in the final match of the Western Amateur tournament at Kansas City two weeks ago, George Von Elm of Salt Lake City is generally looked upon as one of the strongest possibilities to win the present tournament, repeating his success of last year at Denver.

Iowa has to strong contenders for Von Elm's crown in "Ruddy" Knepper of Sioux City. and Bob McKee, Des Moines, both of whom have distinguished themselves in tournament play heretotore. From the south come Reuben Bush and Frank Godchaux of New Orleans, while many of the crack golfers of the middle west are participating, the list including three state champions in Jim Kennedy of Oklahoma, Alex Graham of Kansas and Lawrence Bromfield of Colorado, the latter being runner-up to Von Elm in the Trans-Mississippi play a year ago.

THINNING OF PEACH CROP BY FROST IS HELD AID TO FRUIT BY COUNTY AGENT

Thinning of the peach crop in Allen-co, due to heavy frosts will make for larger and better fruit, H. J. Ridge, farm agent, believes.

It has long been known by experienced friut growers that intelligent thinning of fruit just after the June crop and before the fruit stones harden will increase the size and quality of the peaches.

Some very large fruit is being grown in the county, reports say, and while the number of peaches will be less, the increased size will more than make up the loss, Ridge believes.

Apples should be given their last spray about July 15, Ridge said Monday. This should be a 3-5-50 Bordeaux mixture with arsenate of lead. If delayed, serious damage may be seen in the apple crop.

Potatoes should be sprayed with the regular Bordeaux mixture to eliminate tipburn and hopperburn, the farm agent states. Tests made last year show an increase of 94 bushels to the acre where the spraying was done.

WIVES ACCUSED IN DIVORCE SUITS

Oscar Cole and Arlie Lego Seek Legal Decrees

Charges of surreptitious meetings between two Lima housewives and men-unknown to their husbands and their failure to care for their homes were preferred as allegations in divorce suits commenced in common pleas court Mnoday.

Oscar Cole, husband of Goldie Cole, charges that she refused to perform her household duties.

She called him vile names when he sought to reason with her and hurled a barrage of utensils in his direction, he asserts.

At night she was out in the company with persons unknown to Cole and her conduct as a wife is unbecoming, the husband says.

Bossession of household furniture held by Mrs. Cole is asked by the husband, but above all, he makes clear, a decree is his goal.

Care and custody of Homer Harold, 13, and Frank Willard, 6 children of Arlie T. Lego electrician, S. McDonald-st, is asked in a petition for divorce filed in common pleas court Monday.

Lego accuses his wife Elizabeth of neglecting her household affairs "gadding about" in company of others.

They were married in Butler, Pa., in 1907. The wife has left the county, according to the husband's petition.

TEACHING THRIFT IS HELD VITAL

Sunday school—for benevolence — and 10 for spending.

"I explained the importance of keeping accounts. At the end of the week I audited the accounts. A few years later they were getting a dollar a week, and to teach accuracy in keeping accounts rewards and demerits were given. If the account book was correct the child got $1,05 the following week, $1.10 the next, and so on; if incorrect, only 95 cents, then 90 and 85."

ALLOWANCE ALWAYS LOW

The allowances never exceed a dollar or two dollars a week at the most, until the age of 15. By then, Mr. Rockefeller considers, a child that has been properly trained ought to be able to handle his own finances. So the allowance is increased to cover all expenses outside of keep, education and medical service. It includes clothes, fares, if traveling alone, entertainment, candy, sodas and the like.

"I believe," Mr. Rockefeller said, "that children should know what to spend, how to spend, what things cost, whether a thing is worth buying—in short, the value of money.

"This, and keeping accounts, is important because of the principle underlying. It is of value to my children—to any child—to hold to the rigid fundamental principle of economics."

Mr. Rockefeller smiled over an experiment he tried.

"I was brought up to do things that needed to be done, whether I liked them or not," he said. "At seven years of age I began playing the violin, and I used to get five cents an hour for practising. But that sort of thing doesn't work these days—or at least the standards are higher! Even with children. Five cents an hour isn't an inducement any more!

"But I do pay wages for errands and chores. If a child honestly works, he earns such pay. It stimulates the desire to work. I used to get 15 cents an hour for sawing wood. But these days it's different. Down in the country we have wood hauled to the house. My boys and I load and unload it, and I pay them for the job. Yes, the scale is higher than 15 cents!"

THRIFT NOT TAUGHT

Schools do not teach thrift and habits of work, Mr. Rockefeller finds.

"Education used to mean cramming the mind," he said. "Education really is learning how to use the mind. The tendency with many children of today is to follow the easiest way, the line of least resistance. You see it reflected in studies, in social life, and in business.

The modern theory of many people seems to be to let a child decide what he wants to do and then let him do it. Of course, we all do best the things we like doing. But life cannot be lived wholly that way. How can a child later learn how to avoid the things he should not do? A disorderly mind is an untrained one."

Mr. Rockefeller hasn't much sympathy with parents who, having acquired means, say they hope their boys will never have to work as hard as they did.

"It is a false idea to change standards like that and go with the tide," he said.

"A boy should do the wholesome things his father had to do in so far as is possible. It will teach him what qualities made his father successful. I am sorry I did not have that sort of chance. I want my boys to start work at the bottom."

TOURISTS CAUGHT IN BLIZZARD

Rockefeller Party Suffers in Blinding Snow Storm

BOZEMAN, Mont. — (Associated Press) — With their faces bronzed and almost blistered from their experiences in facing the biting winds of the blizzard that Saturday swept over the mountain peaks of Yellowstone National Park, Mrs. Percy Rockefeller and the party that accompanied her told of their experiences. They arrived in Bozeman last night.

"It was the most thrilling experience and one of the most delightful too, that I have ever known," said Mrs. Rockefeller as she greeted a representative of The Associated Press on her arrival here.

"When we left the lower station of Yellowstone canyon, the sun was shining and it was a most beautiful day. We were in a big open touring car and as we neared the top of Mount Washburn the snow began to fall and the wind began to blow a regular gale.

SNOW IS BLINDING ....

"By the time we reached the top the mercury had fallen and the wind was biting cold, while the snow fell in a regular blinding sheet. At the top of Mount Washburn is a little log cabin in which we took refuge. All of our party turned in and secured some log wood and some boards. In the cabin was a fire place and there we started a roaring fire.

"After about two hours of a heavy snowfall, the wind died down and the clouds rolled away. Our chauffeur went out and inspected the roads and said he thought we could make the trip back.

"A little careful bucking of the drifts by the machine opened a way and finally we went on down the mountainside.

"It seemed odd to all of us to be caught in such a cold bitter snowstorm in the very middle of July but we really enjoyed every minute of it."

Honus Wagner May Be Pirate Assistant

PITTSBURGH. — Reports that Hans Wagner, veteran major league player whose last berth was as shortstop with the Pittsburgh Nationals in 1920 had been offered an opening as assistant manager and coach of the Pirates, were made known here last night. This was said to be the latest development in Manager Bill McKechnie's plans to get the team on a sound footing.

Wagner has asked for time in which to consider the proposition. Hans, it is said, will be coach of the infielders and would act in an advisory capacity to McKechnie.

GREB-DEMPSEY GO CALLED OFF

PITTSBURGH. — Announcement that the proposed Harry Greb-Jack Dempsey bout here on Labor Day would not take place was made last night by John Bell, Pittsburgh promoter, who has been negotiating for such an attraction.

Bell stated that had Kearns accepted his offer, made nearly two weeks ago, he could have arranged the bout for Labor Day, but that the time was now too short in which to make preparations.

Hold Scrap In Gotham

NEW YORK. — Johnny Buff will defeat his bantamweight title tonight in a 15-round match with Joe Lynch, former holder of the banty crown, at the Velodrome.

The champion, who also is the flyweight titleholder, is expected to weigh in around 113 pounds, while Lynch will tip the scales close to the bantam limit, 118 pounds.

Lynch took the halo from Pete Herman, only to lose it again to the redoubtable Peter some time later thru a kayo.

Johnny Buff came along in a few months and socked Herman for a plate of dumplings, a big purse and the title of the little 'uns.

Buff has been ill the greater part of the summer with blood poisoning His condition is doubted by the critics and it is probable that he will not be the same old Johnny tonight when he goes 15 frames with Joe.

100 START IN GOLF CLASSIC

CHICAGO — More than 100 golfers today started their qualifying round in the national golf tournament at the Skokie Course in which 325 of the world's greatest players form a field so representative that few will contest the claim of the winner to the title of the world's champion.

The champions of England, Scotland, Australia and of all sections of the United States, the latter including the winner of the British open championship, are fighting for victory, the list of contestants also including the greatest of this country's amateurs

Among entrants were Abe Mitchell, the famous English professional, Jim Barnes of Pelham Bay, N Y, present open title holder; "Chick" Evans of Chicago, former holder of tthe national amateur and open titles and seven times western amateur champion, which title he now holds; Jock Hutchinson of Chicago, British open champion last year; Joe Kirkwood, Australian champion and noted for his fancy shots and Robert Gardner of Chicago, twice national amateur champion and once runner-up in the British amateur.

WAPAK REDS TRIM ST. MARYS 2-0

WAPAKONETA — A pitchers' duel between Purtell of St. Marys and Abbott for the local Reds Sunday resulted in a 2 to 0 shutout in favor of Wapakoneta.

Each twirler allowed but two singles Fred Houtz, 50-year-old cleanup batsman for the Reds, stole home under the pitcher's nose for the first local run in the fifth Abbott had 13 strikeouts and Purtell 11.

It was the Reds' fourth consecutive victory over St. Marys.

RELAYS PLANNED

LAWRENCE, KAN.—Preliminary plans are already under way for the Kansas Relays, which have been set tentatively for April 21, next year. Dr F C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas, has been receiving assurances from other colleges that they will have entries, and he is preparing to care for teams from coast to coast.

The formal invitation to the relays will not go out until shortly after the first of the year, but already the inquiries indicate the widest interest.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

Browns Have Three Strong Contestants In Baseball Contest

KEN WILLIAMS

WHAT about Ken Williams when considering the most valuable player in the majors?

Has the home-run hitting of Williams been as valuable to the Browns as the superb pitching of Shocker and the brilliant all-round play of Sisler?

Temporarily at least Williams is hogging the spotlight that has been directed on Babe Ruth for the past three years. He is the home-run king of the American League.

Many of the home-run drives by Williams have been deciding factors in certain ball games. In addition, Williams had fielded well, and done timely hitting other than his home runs.

No doubt the slugging of Williams has had its effect on the rest of the club. His ability to hit undoubtedly inspired confidence in the entire lineup. As a result his slugging tactics have worked to advantage in more ways than one.

URBAN SHOCKER

URBAN SHOCKER of the St. Louis Browns is generally considered the most valuable pitchor in the American League.

Shocker is a pitcher, to use the slang of the ball field, "who has everything," fine speed, a great curve, excellent change of pace and the annoying spitball.

Better yet, Shocker knows how to pitch. He is one of the wisest, if not the wisest, twirler in either of the major leagues.

Shocker is game. No situation is too tough for him to face. The harder the going, the more important the series, the better he likes it.

A manager could have no better ace than Shocker. He is always ready to pitch. When some St Louis pitcher starts to weaken Manager Fohl never needs to ask Shocker to warm up He can usually be found in the warm-up section getting ready.

GEORGE SISLER

WHEN considering the most valuable player in the majors George Sisler, brilliant first baseman of the Browns, is entitled to a high rating.

Sisler is one of the greatest ball players the game has ever produced. The sensational first sacker hasn't a single weakness.

At the bat Sisler has maintained an average well over the .400 mark since the opening of the season. If he can keep that clip up he bids fair to wrest the crown of champion batter from Harry Heilman.

In the field he has performed brilliantly, as is his custom. His great all-round work has been one of the big factors in the game fight the Browns are making to beat the New York Yankees.

Sisler can hit and he can field. He is very fast on his feet and has a keen brain that makes it possible for him to use his speed to the best advantage.

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONES.

Hodge and Ward Toss Ball Away With Runners On

THROWING the ball away without the permission of the umpire is something a bit new in the way of ivory stuff.

In the old days, every now and then some coacher would ask a "rookie" pitcher to see the ball. Occasionally the obliging "rookie" would throw it to the coacher, who would then let the ball go by, while the runners dashed for the plate.

The players to be involved in the latest escapade of that sort were Charley O'Leary of the Yankees and Bob Hasty of the Athletics.

Several years ago in a game at the Polo Grounds with runners on second and third, O'Leary coaching on third, requested Hasty to let him look at the ball.

The umpire saved Hasty. Feeling that he should pass judgment on the ball if anything was wrong, the umpire called time just before Hasty obligingly tossed the ball to O'Leary.

Of course, O'Leary stepped out of the way and both runners scored. However, the umpire sent them both back as he had previously called time, suspending play.

Pitcher Hodge of Chicago and Second Baseman Ward of New York figure in the two freak "bonehead plays" of 1922.

Due to the concrete stands, a ball is usually rendered unfit for play when it hits the rough concrete. If the player discovers the ball is rough, he is supposed to throw it to the umpire for his inspection.

Failure to do that little thing caused some very unpleasant moments for Hodge and Ward.

In a game at Detroit, with Chicago leading by one run, Detroit got runners on first and second. Hodge, pitching, made up his mind that the ball was unfit for play, and deliberately threw it into the Detroit dugout.

The umpire in charge was forced to score the runner from second and advance the other runner to third. That runner also scored. Chicago managed to win out with a run to spare, so the "bone" on the part of Pitcher Hodge wasn't so costly as it might have been.

On Decoration Day in New York, the Yankees were leading the Athletics 2 to 1 up to the eighth. In that inning with one down, Johnston singled against the rightfield wall. The contact with the stand cut the ball badly.

It was thrown to Second Baseman Ward, who seeing that it was unfit for play, threw it into the New York dugout, which entitled Johnston to go to third. He scored on a sacrifice fly, tying up the game.

Ward himself scored the winning run in the last of the eighth, so he atoned for his boot.

TRANS-MISSY MEET OPENS

OMAHA, NEB.—Play in the qualifying rounds of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament opened on the Omaha Country Club course here today with more than 200 golfers entered. Both today and tomorrow are given over to qualifying play, with the semi-finals and final matches set for the last of the week.

Altho an easy victim of Chick Evans in the final match of the Western Amateur tournament at Kansas City two weeks ago, George Von Elm of Salt Lake City is generally looked upon as one of the strongest possibilities to win the present tournament, repeating his success of last year at Denver.

Iowa has to strong contenders for Von Elm's crown in "Ruddy" Knepper of Sioux City, and Bob McKee, Des Moines, both of whom have distinguished themselves in tournament play heretofore. From the south come Reuben Bush and Frank Godchaux of New Orleans, while many of the crack golfers of the middle west are participating, the list including three state champions in Jim Kennedy of Oklahoma, Alex Graham of Kansas and Lawrence Bromfield of Colorado, the latter being runner-up to Von Elm in the Trans-Mississippi play a year ago.

Despite the comparative shortness of the course—6,000 yards—and the absence of natural hazards, it is considered by golfers as one of the most difficult of links, having 72 for a par. The course has been extensively trapped and improved during the past few months and is said to be one or two strokes more during the past few months and is

(BY FRANKLYN DOAN.)

BERNIE Halloran's Lima Independents slapped the offerings of Bill Root, Sidney twirler, with everything except the gate receipts and after the hectic contest was over it was found that the Lima boys had garnered 18 hits, which resulted in 15 tallies. In the first four innings things seemed to be going just right for the Sidney bunch, but in the fifth with two down Lima got six hits and eight runs, which put the old game on ice.

Many new faces were seen in the Lima lineup and they all played the kind of ball that people like to see. The Neu brothers, Marty and Otto, put much of the fight and dash in the team and did good work in driving in and scoring the runs. Harold Bible had his batting eye adjusted almost perfectly getting a homer, triple, double and a single out of five trips to the rubber. He made two beautiful catches in center field and showed that he can field as well as he can hit.

START EARLY

The home boys started rolling up their runs in the first inning when Marty Neu singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Mauder's hot liner. In the third inning Sidney gained the upper hand when four hits an error and a fly brought three tallies across the platter. Gloom and sadness prevailed around the Independent dugout. But this melancholy situation lasted but a short time, for in the fifth frame the locals began their terrible massacre.

Harold Bible started out with a single into left field and went to second on Main's sacrifice. With two out, Breshnahan took a hard one in the ribs and O. Neu had the same luck. Chuch Nichols cleared the sacks with a sizzling double. Four more successive doubles resulted in as many runs and Bible coming to bat for the second time that inning, Babe Ruthed one into the left garden and Paddocked around the bases. An error and another single resulted in another tally and Bresnaher whiffed, retiring the side. From the fateful fifth Sidney had no chance worth mentioning but the Lima boys kept on piling up until they had amassed 15 markers in eight frames.

CROWD GOOD

The crowd was estimated at 1,000 and showed that Lima people are beginning to know they have a ball team and if things keep up like they are at present, the bean town will be represented in league ball before long. The Independents begin a series with St. Marys next Sunday while the following Sabbath they will begin a three game setto with Troy. Score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The game marked the 14th played at the home yard this season, ten of which have been victories for the Lima team. Main has started nine of the games, Lefty Delmar worked four and Jimmy O'Neill climbed the mound in one.

Ralph Crozer, who was loaned to Lima by the Massillon club to pitch yesterday, arrived in Lima suffering from a slight attack of indigestion and was unable to leave his hotel at game time. He left Lima for home last night much improved.

Sacksteder, center fielder for the Sidney team, is a former Ohio State University man and has for the past five years been regarded as among the big ten all around athletes in the state. Football is where he shows best, however.

After many nice things had been said about him, Bible broke into the game a week ago in just ordinary form, but yesterday was a regular Bible day and the light-footed youngster delivered in a way that leaves no doubt as to his ability in athletics. A single, double triple, a home run and a walk out of five times at bat, plus a fine running catch, were Bible's contribution in the Lima victory.

The Neu brothers, Marty and Otto are a big addition to the home team because of the fight and fight that they put into the game. Marty has signed to play with [illegible] the remainder of the season and Otto until he gets in shape to join the Cleveland Indians, all of which is good news to local fandom.

SIX MEN TO HANG FOR ONE DEATH

Supreme Court, Only, Can Save Them From Gallows

FOUR SUBJECTS OF ITALY

Louisiana Town Fears Repetition of Mob Violence

NEW ORLEANS — (Special) — Six men stand in the shadow of death here in atonement for a crime that cost a single life.

Will they go to the gallows?

Or will the Supreme Court save them, as it did once before?

Or—what?

Tangipahoa Parish tensely awaits the answer.

For there have been two tumultuous trials, charges and countercharges of attempted bribery, threats, fear of jail delivery, talk of violence, rumors of militiamen being sent.

There is an international angle, too. Four of the six men twice convicted of the murder of Dallas Hymes, restaurant proprietor at Independence, La., are subjects of Italy.

The condemned men are Andrea Zamantia, Natale Deamore, Joseph Sochio, Roy Leona, Joseph Rini and Joseph Giglio. The crime was committed more than a year ago—May 9, 1921.

Peace and order people of this region are hoping that Tangipahoa Parish will be saved possible repetition of a well-remembered international incident more than 33 years ago.

U. S. FORCED TO PAY INDEMNITY

Following the riots of 189, when 11 Italians were lynched in a New Orleans park after the jury failed to agree in their trial for the murder of Police Chief Dave Hennessy, a controversy occurred with Italy in which the United States paid an indemnity to the families of the victims.

Following the first trial of the six men accused of the Caimes murder, the Supreme Court ordered a new trial. Again they were convicted. Attending the trial was the father of Joseph Rini, one of the condemned men, a wealthy real estate owner of Chicago.

At one juncture a lawyer was brought before the court to explain alleged jury tampering. Another resident of Amite, where the men were confined in jail, was convicted and sentenced for attempted jury bribing.

JAILER SUPPLIES EVIDENCE

Later the jailer, Lonnie Stevens, received this letter which he turned over to the authorities: "It will mean $20,000 to you if you do the right thing at the right time."

A sensation came when a man appeared with the charge he had been offered $5000 to bribe two of the jurors. An investigation by the grand jury resulted in the indictment of four persons for attempted bribery.

Sheriff Bowden's influence is credited with having saved serious trouble in a jail delivery.

200 BESIEGE JUDGE

On another occasion Judge Robert S Ellis, before whom the Italians were twice tried and convicted, publicly addressed 200 citizens demanding an audience with him. He promised justice and the crowd dispersed.

Today the six condemned men are being held here for safe keeping. Three times authorities have planned to transfer them to Amite but have delayed when their plans became public.

Sheriff Bowden is considering asking for troops to guard the prisoners on their way to Amite.

The day of the Supreme Court's final action in the case is problematic.

Girls! Face Powders May Make You Attractive

But Be Careful How You Apply them—Above All Be Sure to Use the Right Shade.

The secret of applying powder correctly is to use the right foundation cream. Howards Buttermilk Cream, obtainable at all first-class drug and toilet goods counters, makes a perfect base for powder. Just a slight trace of this cream rubbed in before the powder, is all that is necessary. This wonderful cream actually vanishes from sight and the most delicate atmosphere will not produce the slightest shininess or greasiness of the skin.

The right face powder, using the color best suited to your complexion, is an important matter, but be sure that the powder is pure. Howards Buttermilk Cream and Beauty Powders (Flesh, White and Brunette) contain true buttermilk which protects the complexion against exposure and removes that disagreeable shine which so often makes one look like a fright. Complexions look vulgar when powder is used improperly. If you cannot obtain locally send 10 cents (silver or stamps) for generous package of both Cream and Soap. Howard Bros. Co. Buffalo, N. Y. THINNING OF PEACH CROP BY FROST IS HELD AID TO FRUIT BY COUNTY AGENT

Thinning of the peach crop in Allen co, due to heavy frosts will make for larger and better fruit, H. J. Ridge, farm agent, believes.

It has long been known by experienced friut growers that intelligent thinning of fruit just after the June crop and before the fruit stones harden will increase the size and quality of the peaches.

Some very large fruit is being grown in the county, reports say, and while the number of peaches will be less, the increased size will more than make up the loss, Ridge believes.

Apples should be given their last spray about July 15, Ridge said Monday. This should be a 3-5-50 Bordeaux mixture with arsenate of lead. If delayed, serious damage may be seen in the apple crop.

Potatoes should be sprayed with the regular Bordeaux mixture to eliminate tipburn and hopperburn, the farm agent states. Tests made last year show an increase of 74 bushels to the acre where the spraying was done.

WIVES ACCUSED IN DIVORCE SUITS

Oscar Cole and Arlie Lego Seek Legal Decrees

Charges of surreptitious meetings between two Lima housewives and men unknown to their husbands and their failure to care for their homes were preferred as allegations in divorce suits commenced in common pleas court Monday.

Oscar Cole, husband of Goldie Cole, charges that she refused to perform her household duties.

She called him vile names when he sought to reason with her and hurled a barrage of utensils in his direction, he asserts.

At night she was out in the company with persons unknown to Cole and her conduct as a wife is unbecoming, the husband says.

Possession of household furniture held by Mrs. Cole is asked by the husband, but above all, he makes clear, a decree is his goal.

Care and custody of Homer Harold, 13, and Frank Willard, 6 children of Arlie T. Lego electrician, S. McDonald-st, is asked in a petition for divorce filed in common pleas court Monday.

Lego accuses his wife Elizabeth of neglecting her household affairs "gadding about" in company of others.

They were married in Butler, Pa., in 1907. The wife has left the county, according to the husband's petition.

TEACHING THRIFT IS HELD VITAL

Sunday school—for benevolence — and 10 for spending.

"I explained the importance of keeping accounts. At the end of the week I audited the accounts. A few years later they were getting a dollar a week, and to teach accuracy in keeping accounts rewards and demerits were given. If the account book was correct the child got $1,05 the following week, $1.10 the next, and so on; if incorrect, only 95 cents, then 90 and 85."

ALLOWANCE ALWAYS LOW

The allowances never exceed a dollar or two dollars a week at the most, until the age of 15. By then, Mr. Rockefeller considers, a child that has been properly trained ought to be able to handle his own finances. So the allowance is increased to cover all expenses outside of keep, education and medical service. It includes clothes, fares, if traveling alone, entertainment, candy, sodas and the like.

"I believe," Mr. Rockefeller said, "that children should know what to spend, how to spend, what things cost, whether a thing is worth buying—in short, the value of money.

"This, and keeping accounts, is important because of the principle underlying. It is of value to my children—to any child—to hold to the rigid fundamental principle of economics."

Mr. Rockefeller smiled over an experiment he tried.

"I was brought up to do things that needed to be done, whether I liked them or not," he said. "At seven years of age I began playing the violin, and I used to get five cents an hour for practising. But that sort of thing doesn't work these days—or at least the standards are higher! Even with children. Five cents an hour isn't an inducement any more!

"But I do pay wages for errands and chores. If a child honestly works, he earns such pay. It stimulates the desire to work. I used to get 15 cents an hour for sawing wood. But these days it's different. Down in the country we have wood hauled to the house. My boys and I load and unload it, and I pay them for the job. Yes, the scale is higher than 15 cents!"

THRIFT NOT TAUGHT

Schools do not teach thrift and habits of work, Mr. Rockefeller finds.

"Education used to mean cramming the mind," he said. "Education really is learning how to use the mind. The tendency with many children of today is to follow the easiest way, the line of least resistance. You see it reflected in studies, in social life, and in business.

The modern theory of many people seems to be to let a child decide what he wants to do and then let him do it. Of course, we all do best the things we like doing. But life cannot be lived wholly that way. How can a child later learn how to avoid the things he should not do? A disorderly mind is an untrained one."

Mr. Rockefeller hasn't much sympathy with parents who, having acquired means, say they hope their boys will never have to work as hard as they did.

"It is a false idea to change standards like that and go with the tide," he said.

"A boy should do the wholesome things his father had to do in so far as is possible. It will teach him what qualities made his father successful. I am sorry I did not have that sort of chance. I want my boys to start work at the bottom."

DUFFY MAKES BID FOR ALLEN VOTE

Democratic Candidate for Governor in Lima Tonight

Thomas J. Duffy, chairman of the state industrial commission and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Ohio, will be a visitor in Lima Monday evening.

He is expected to arrive here at about 6 p. m., from Delphos, where he addressed a public meeting held during the afternoon. Duffy expects to meet a number of prominent Democratic leaders here and perfect a county organization, it is stated.

Duffy is a resident of East Liverpool. He is known as the champion of the workmen's compensation law having been named as one of the members of the original commission to administer the workmen's compensation act. Previous to that he was president of the International Pottery Workers' union.

He studied law and was admitted to the bar. As an orator he is said to be among the most able in the state. He is well known to many Lima people, having been a visitor here on numerous occasions.

Duffy says he expects to receive big support from the cities of Ohio as a candidate for Governor, having given considerable time and effort to bringing capital and labor together in better understanding of their mutual interests.

TOURISTS CAUGHT IN BLIZZARD

Rockefeller Party Suffers in Blinding Snow Storm

BOZEMAN, Mont. — (Associated Press) — With their faces bronzed and almost blistered from their experiences in facing the biting winds of the blizzard that Saturday swept over the mountain peaks of Yellowstone National Park, Mrs. Percy Rockefeller and the party that accompanied her told of their experiences. They arrived in Bozeman last night.

"It was the most thrilling experience and one of the most delightful too, that I have ever known," said Mrs. Rockefeller as she greeted a representative of The Associated Press on her arrival here.

"When we left the lower station of Yellowstone canyon, the sun was shining and it was a most beautiful day. We were in a big open touring car and as we neared the top of Mount Washburn the snow began to fall and the wind began to blow a regular gale.

SNOW IS BLINDING

"By the time we reached the top the mercury had fallen and the wind was biting cold, while the snow fell in a regular blinding sheet. At the top of Mount Washburn is a little log cabin in which we took refuge. All of our party turned in and secured some log wood and some boards. In the cabin was a fire place and there we started a roaring fire.

"After about two hours of a heavy snowfall, the wind died down and the clouds rolled away. Our chauffeur went out and inspected the roads and said he thought we could make the trip back.

"A little careful bucking of the drifts by the machine opened a way and finally we went on down the mountainside.

"It seemed odd to all of us to be caught in such a cold bitter snowstorm in the very middle of July but we really enjoyed every minute of it."

PITTSBURGH. — Reports that Hans Wagner, veteran major league player whose last berth was as shortstop with the Pittsburgh Nationals in 1920 had been offered an opening as assistant manager and coach of the Pirates, were made known here last night. This was said to be the latest development in Manager Bill McKechnie's plans to get the team on a sound footing.

Hold Scrap In Gotham

NEW YORK. — Johnny Buff will defend his bantamweight title tonight in a 15-round match with Joe Lynch, former holder of the banty crown, at the Velodrome.

The champion, who also is the flyweight titleholder, is expected to weigh in around 113 pounds, while Lynch will tip the scales close to the bantam limit, 118 pounds.

Lynch took the halo from Pete Herman, only to lose it again to the redoubtable Peter some time later thru a kayo.

Johnny Buff came along in a few months and socked Herman for a plate of dumplings, a big purse and the title of the little 'uns.

Buff has been ill the greater part of the summer with blood poisoning. His condition is doubted by the critics and it is probable that he will not be the same old Johnny tonight when he goes 15 frames with Joe.

100 START IN GOLF CLASSIC

CHICAGO — More than 100 golfers today started their qualifying round in the national golf tournament at the Skokie Course in which 325 of the world's greatest players form a field so representative that few will contest the claim of the winner to the title of the world's champion.

The champions of England, Scotland, Australia and of all sections of the United States, the latter including the winner of the British open championship, are fighting for victory, the list of contestants also including the greatest of this country's amateurs

Among entrants were Abe Mitchell, the famous English professional, Jim Barnes of Pelham Bay, N. Y., present open title holder; "Chick" Evans of Chicago, former holder of the national amateur and open titles and seven times western amateur champion, which title he now holds; Jock Hutchinson of Chicago, British open champion last year; Joe Kirkwood, Australian champion and noted for his fancy shots and Robert Gardner of Chicago, twice national amateur champion and once runner-up in the British amateur.

WAPAK REDS TRIM ST. MARYS 2-0

WAPAKONETA — A pitchers' duel between Purtell of St. Marys and Abbott for the local Reds Sunday resulted in a 2 to 0 shutout in favor of Wapakoneta.

Each twirler allowed but two singles. Fred Houtz, 50-year-old cleanup batsman for the Reds, stole home under the pitcher's nose for the first local run in the fifth. Abbott had 13 strikeouts and Purtell 11.

It was the Reds' fourth consecutive victory over St. Marys.

RELAYS PLANNED

LAWRENCE, KAN.—Preliminary plans are already under way for the Kansas Relays, which have been set tentatively for April 21, next year Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas, has been receiving assurances from other colleges that they will have entries, and he is preparing to care for teams from coast to coast.

The formal invitation to the relays will not go out until shortly after the first of the year, but already the inquiries indicate the widest interest.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

Browns Have Three Strong Contestants In Baseball Contest

KEN WILLIAMS

WHAT about Ken Williams when considering the most valuable player in the majors?

Has the home-run hitting of Williams been as valuable to the Browns as the superb pitching of Shocker and the brilliant all-round play of Sisler?

Temporarily at least Williams is hogging the spotlight that has been directed on Babe Ruth for the past three years. He is the home-run king of the American League.

Many of the home-run drives by Williams have been deciding factors in certain ball games. In addition, Williams had fielded well, and done timely hitting other than his home runs.

No doubt the slugging of Williams has had its effect on the rest of the club. His ability to hit undoubtedly inspired confidence in the entire lineup. As a result his slugging tactics have worked to advantage in more ways than one.

URBAN SHOCKER

URBAN SHOCKER of the St. Louis Browns is generally considered the most valuable pitcher in the American League.

Shocker is a pitcher, to use the slang of the ball field, "who has everything," fine speed, a great curve, excellent change of pace and the annoying spitball.

Better yet, Shocker knows how to pitch. He is one of the wisest, if not the wisest, twirler in either of the major leagues.

Shocker is game. No situation is too tough for him to face. The harder the going, the more important the series, the better he likes it.

A manager could have no better ace than Shocker. He is always ready to pitch. When some St. Louis pitcher starts to weaken Manager Fohl never needs to ask Shocker to warm up. He can usually be found in the warm-up section getting ready.

GEORGE SISLER

WHEN considering the most valuable player in the majors George Sisler, brilliant first baseman of the Browns, is entitled to a high rating.

Sisler is one of the greatest ball players the game has ever produced. The sensational first sacker hasn't a single weakness.

At the bat Sisler has maintained an average well over the .400 mark since the opening of the season. If he can keep that clip up he bids fair to wrest the crown of champion batter from Harry Heilman.

In the field he has performed brilliantly, as is his custom. His great all-round work has been one of the big factors in the game fight the Browns are making to beat the New York Yankees.

Sisler can hit and he can field. He is very fast on his feet and has a keen brain that makes it possible for him to use his speed to the best advantage.

NEW YORK — Vic Aldridge's steady twirling checked Boston and gave Chicago its eighth victory out of nine games yesterday, enabling the Cubs to climb over Brooklyn into third place in the National League Killifer's men are going like a house afire with their pitching staff in rare form, and promise to make things interesting for the leaders.

The slugging St Louis Cardinals, who also are going at a speedy clip, handed the Brooklyn Dodgers their fourth straight setback, 6 to 5 in a game filled with eleventh-hour thrills, as the Giants were idle, Rickey's men climbed to within three and a half games of the top.

Cleveland made it two in a row from the Yankees, tying the score in the ninth and winning in the thirteenth when Bob Shawkey, who relieved Jones, weakened. Bob Meusel starred at bat with a homer and three singles.

Washington defeated Detroit 13 to 7, and Cincinnati pounded out a victory over Philadelphia 9 to 3 in the latter stages of the game, Jake Daubert featuring with four hits, including a homer.

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONES.

Hodge and Ward Toss Ball Away With Runners On

THROWING the ball away without the permission of the umpire is something a bit new in the way of ivory stuff.

In the old days, every now and then some coacher would ask a "rookie" pitcher to see the ball. Occasionally the obliging "rookie" would throw it to the coacher, who would then let the ball go by, while the runners dashed for the plate.

The players to be involved in the latest escapade of that sort were Charley O'Leary of the Yankees and Bob Hasty of the Athletics.

Several years ago in a game at the Polo Grounds with runners on second and third, O'Leary coaching on third, requested Hasty to let him look at the ball.

The umpire saved Hasty. Feeling that he should pass judgment on the ball if anything was wrong, the umpire called time just before Hasty obligingly tossed the ball to O'Leary.

Of course, O'Leary stepped out of the way and both runners scored. However, the umpire sent them both back as he had previously called time, suspending play.

Pitcher Hodge of Chicago and Second Baseman Ward of New York figure in the two freak "bonehead plays" of 1922.

Due to the concrete stands, a ball is usually rendered unfit for play when it hits the rough concrete. If the player discovers the ball is rough, he is supposed to throw it to the umpire for his inspection.

Failure to do that little thing caused some very unpleasant moments for Hodge and Ward.

In a game at Detroit, with Chicago leading by one run, Detroit got runners on first and second. Hodge, pitching, made up his mind that the ball was unfit for play, and deliberately threw it into the Detroit dugout.

The umpire in charge was forced to score the runner from second and advance the other runner to third. That runner also scored. Chicago managed to win out with a run to spare, so the "bone" on the part of Pitcher Hodge wasn't so costly as it might have been.

On Decoration Day in New York, the Yankees were leading the Athletics 2 to 1 up to the eighth. In that inning with one down, Johnston singled against the rightfield wall. The contact with the stand cut the ball badly.

It was thrown to Second Baseman Ward, who seeing that it was unfit for play, threw it into the New York dugout, which entitled Johnston to go to third. He scored on a sacrifice fly, tying up the game.

Ward himself scored the winning run in the last of the eighth, so he atoned for his boot.

TRANS-MISSY MEET OPENS

OMAHA, NEB.—Play in the qualifying rounds of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament opened on the Omaha Country Club course here today with more than 200 golfers entered. Both today and tomorrow are given over to qualifying play, with the semi-finals and final matches set for the last of the week.

Altho an easy victim of Chick Evans in the final match of the Western Amateur tournament at Kansas City two weeks ago, George Von Elm of Salt Lake City is generally looked upon as one of the strongest possibilities to win the present tournament, repeating his success of last year at Denver.

Iowa has to strong contenders for Von Elm's crown in "Buddy" Knepper of Sioux City, and Bob McKee, Des Moines, both of whom have distinguished themselves in tournament play heretofore. From the south come Reuben Bush and Frank Godchaux of New Orleans, while many of the crack golfers of the middle west are participating, the list including three state champions in Jim Kennedy of Oklahoma, Alex Graham of Kansas and Lawrence Bromfield of Colorado, the latter being runner-up to Von Elm in the Trans-Mississippi play a year ago.

Despite the comparative shortness of the course—6,000 yards—and the absence of natural hazards, it is considered by golfers as one of the most difficult of links, having 72 for a par. The course has been extensively trapped and improved during the past few months and is said to be one or two strokes more during the past few months and is

(BY FRANKLYN DOAN.)

BERNIE Halloran's Lima Independents slapped the offerings of Bill Root, Sidney twirler, with everything except the gate receipts and after the hectic contest was over it was found that the Lima boys had garnered 18 hits, which resulted in 15 tallies. In the first four innings things seemed to be going just right for the Sidney bunch, but in the fifth with two down Lima got six hits and eight runs, which put the old game on ice.

Many new faces were seen in the Lima lineup and they all played the kind of ball that people like to see. The Neu brothers, Marty and Otto, put much of the fight and dash in the team and did good work in driving in and scoring the runs. Harold Bible had his batting eye adjusted almost perfectly getting a homer, triple, double and a single out of five trips to the rubber. He made two beautiful catches in center field and showed that he can field as well as he can hit.

START EARLY

The home boys started rolling up their runs in the first inning when Marty Neu singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Mauder's hot liner. In the third inning Sidney gained the upper hand when four hits an error and a fly brought three tallies across the platter. Gloom and sadness prevailed around the Independent dugout. But this melancholy situation lasted but a short time, for in the fifth frame the locals began their terrible massacre.

Harold Bible started out with a single into left field and went to second on Main's sacrifice. With two out, Breshnahan took a hard one in the ribs and O. Neu had the same luck. Chuch Nichols cleared the sacks with a sizzling double, Four more successive doubles resulted in as many runs and Bible coming to bat for the second time that inning, Babe Ruthed one into the left garden and Paddocked around the bases. An error and another single resulted in another tally and Bresnahan whiffed, retiring the side. From the fateful fifth Sidney had no chance worth mentioning but the Lima boys kept on piling up until they had amassed 15 markers in eight frames.

CROWD GOOD

The crowd was estimated at 1,000 and showed that Lima people are beginning to know they have a ball team and if things keep up like they are at present, the bean town will be represented in league ball before long. The Independents begin a series with St. Marys next Sunday while the following Sabbath they will begin a three game setto with Troy. Score:

In the preliminary game "Sock" Kohler and his Buckland warriors tore down the local Knights of Columbus. Kohler led the onslaught with seven strikeouts. NOTES OF THE GAME.

The game marked the 14th played at the home yard this season, ten of which have been victories for the Lima team. Main has started nine of the games, Lefty Delmar worked four and Jimmy O'Neill climbed the mound in one.

Ralph Crozer, who was loaned to Lima by the Massillon club to pitch yesterday, arrived in Lima suffering from a slight attack of indigestion and was unable to leave his hotel at game time. He left Lima for home last night much improved.

Sacksteder, center fielder for the Sidney team, is a former Ohio State University man and has for the past five years been regarded as among the big ten all around athletes in the State. Football is where he shows best, however.

After many nice things had been said about him, Bible broke into the game a week ago in just ordinary form, but yesterday was a regular Bible day and the light-footed youngster delivered in a way that leaves no doubt as to his ability in athletics. A single, double triple, a home run and a walk out of five times at bat, plus a fine running catch, were Bible's contribution in the Lima victory.

The Neu brothers, Marty and Otto are a big addition to the home team because of the pep and fight that they put into the game. Marty has signed to play with us for the remainder of the season and Otto until he gets in shape to join the Cleveland Indians, all of which is good news to local fandom.

THINNING OF PEACH CROP BY FROST IS HELD AID TO FRUIT BY COUNTY AGENT

Thinning of the peach crop in Allen co, due to heavy frosts will make for larger and better fruit, H. J. Ridge, farm agent, believes.

It has long been known by experienced friut growers that intelligent thinning of fruit just after the June crop and before the fruit stones harden will increase the size and quality of the peaches.

Some very large fruit is being grown in the county, reports say, and while the number of peaches will be less, the increased size will more than make up the loss, Ridge believes.

Apples should be given their last spray about July 15, Ridge said Monday. This should be a 3-5-50 Bordeaux mixture with arsenate of lead. If delayed, serious damage may be seen in the apple crop.

Potatoes should be sprayed with the regular Bordeaux mixture to eliminate tipburn and hopperburn, the farm agent states. Tests made last year show an increase of 24 bushels to the acre where the spraying was done.

WIVES ACCUSED IN DIVORCE SUITS

Oscar Cole and Arlie Lego Seek Legal Decrees

Charges of surreptitious meetings between two Lima housewives and men-unknown to their husbands and their failure to care for their homes were preferred as allegations in divorce suits commenced in common pleas court Mnoday.

Oscar Cole, husband of Goldie Cole, charges that she refused to perform her household duties.

She called him vile names when he sought to reason with her and hurled a barrage of utensils in his direction, he asserts.

At night she was out in the company with persons unknown to Cole and her conduct as a wife is unbecoming, the husband says.

Bossession of household furniture held by Mrs. Cole is asked by the husband, but above all, he makes clear, a decree is his goal.

Care and custody of Homer Harold, 13, and Frank Willard, 6 children of Arlie T. Lego electrician, S. McDonald-st, is asked in a petition for divorce filed in common pleas court Monday.

Lego accuses his wife Elizabeth of neglecting her household affairs "gadding about" in company of others.

They were married in Butler, Pa., in 1907. The wife has left the county, according to the husband's petition.

All sewer, water, gas, telephone, and other under-ground connections, conduits, and service lines in and under said portion of said street included in this improvement shall be constructed and installed within Ninety (90) days from the passage of this Resolution.

TEACHING THRIFT IS HELD VITAL

Sunday school—for benevolence — and 10 for spending.

"I explained the importance of keeping accounts. At the end of the week I audited the accounts. A few years later they were getting a dollar a week, and to teach accuracy in keeping accounts rewards and demerits were given. If the account book was correct the child got $1,05 the following week, $1.10 the next, and so on; if incorrect, only 95 cents, then 90 and 85."

ALLOWANCE ALWAYS LOW

The allowances never exceed a dollar or two dollars a week at the most, until the age of 15. By then, Mr. Rockefeller considers, a child that has been properly trained ought to be able to handle his own finances. So the allowance is increased to cover all expenses outside of keep, education and medical service. It includes clothes, fares, if traveling alone, entertainment, candy, sodas and the like.

"I believe," Mr. Rockefeller said, "that children should know what to spend, how to spend, what things cost, whether a thing is worth buying—in short, the value of money.

"This, and keeping accounts, is important because of the principle underlying. It is of value to my children—to any child—to hold to the rigid fundamental principle of economics."

Mr. Rockefeller smiled over an experiment he tried.

"I was brought up to do things that needed to be done, whether I liked them or not," he said. "At seven years of age I began playing the violin, and I used to get five cents an hour for practising. But that sort of thing doesn't work these days—or at least the standards are higher! Even with children. Five cents an hour isn't an inducement any more!

"But I do pay wages for errands and chores. If a child honestly works, he earns such pay. It stimulates the desire to work. I used to get 15 cents an hour for sawing wood. But these days it's different. Down in the country we have wood hauled to the house. My boys and I load and unload it, and I pay them for the job. Yes, the scale is higher than 15 cents!"

THRIFT NOT TAUGHT

Schools do not teach thrift and habits of work, Mr. Rockefeller finds.

"Education used to mean cramming the mind," he said. "Education really is learning how to use the mind. The tendency with many children of today is to follow the easiest way, the line of least resistance. You see it reflected in studies, in social life, and in business.

The modern theory of many people seems to be to let a child decide what he wants to do and then let him do it. Of course, we all do best the things we like doing. But life cannot be lived wholly that way. How can a child later learn how to avoid the things he should not do? A disorderly mind is an untrained one."

Mr. Rockefeller hasn't much sympathy with parents who, having acquired means, say they hope their boys will never have to work as hard as they did.

"It is a false idea to change standards like that and go with the tide," he said.

"A boy should do the wholesome things his father had to do in so far as is possible. It will teach him what qualities made his father successful. I am sorry I did not have that sort of chance. I want my boys to start work at the bottom."

DUFFY MAKES BID FOR ALLEN VOTE

Democratic Candidate for Governor in Lima Tonight

Thomas J. Duffy, chairman of the state industrial commission and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Ohio, will be a visitor in Lima Monday evening.

He is expected to arrive here at about 6 p. m., from Delphos, where he addressed a public meeting held during the afternoon. Duffy expects to meet a number of prominent Democratic leaders here and perfect a county organization, it is stated.

Duffy is a resident of East Liverpool. He is known as the champion of the workmen's compensation law having been named as one of the members of the original commission to administer the workmen's compensation act. Previous to that he was president of the International Pottery Workers' union.

He studied law and was admitted to the bar. As an orator he is said to be among the most able in the state. He is well known to many Lima people, having been a visitor here on numerous occasions.

Duffy says he expects to receive big support from the cities of Ohio as a candidate for Governor, having given considerable time and effort to bringing capital and labor together in better understanding of their mutual interests.

TOURISTS CAUGHT IN BLIZZARD

Rockefeller Party Suffers in Blinding Snow Storm

BOZEMAN, Mont. — (Associated Press) — With their faces bronzed and almost blistered from their expellences in facing the biting winds of the blizzard that Saturday swept over the mountain peaks of Yellowstone National Park, Mrs. Percy Rockefeller and the party that accompanied her told of their experiences. They arrived in Bozeman last night.

"It was the most thrilling experience and one of the most delightful too, that I have ever known," said Mrs. Rockefeller as she greeted a representative of The Associated Press on her arrival here.

"When we left the lower station of Yellowstone canyon, the sun was shining and it was a most beautiful day. We were in a big open touring car and as we neared the top of Mount Washburn the snow began to fall and the wind began to blow a regular gale.

SNOW IS BLINDING ....

"By the time we reached the top the mercury had fallen and the wind was biting cold, while the snow fell in a regular blinding sheet. At the top of Mount Washburn is a little log cabin in which we took refuge. All of our party turned in and secured some log wood and some boards. In the cabin was a fire place and there we started a roaring fire.

"After about two hours of a heavy snowfall, the wind died down and the clouds rolled away. Our chauffeur went out and inspected the roads and said he thought we could make the trip back.

"A little careful bucking of the drifts by the machine opened a way and finally we went on down the mountainside.

"It seemed odd to all of us to be caught in such a cold bitter snowstorm in the very middle of July but we really enjoyed every minute of it."

UPTURN IN GRAIN AFTER SLUMP

Rail Strike Developments Attract Attention in Market

CHICAGO.—Railroad strike developments attracted more attention today than heretofore among wheat traders and led to early upturns in price today after an initial show of weakness. Uncertainty over German financial conditions acted at first as a dominating bearish factor. Sellers, however, were handicapped by reports of threshing delays in Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas and the market soon rallied. The opening, which varied from 1-8 to 1 1-4 off with September $1.10 to 1.10 1-2, and December $1.12 to 1.13 was followed by a rise to Saturday's finish or well above for all deliveries.

Timely rains where needed made prices easy for corn and oats. After opening unchanged to 3-4c lower, September 64 to 64 1-2, the corn market held within about the initial range.

Oats started 1-8 to 1-4 off, September 36 3-4 and later recovered somewhat.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

The close was unsettled at 1 to 1 1-8 net decline with September 63 1-2 to 65 5-8.

TRADING IS LIGHT IN STOCKS

Undertone of Market Steady Despite Many Complications

NEW YORK — The week on the stock exchange began with irregular extensions to last Saturday's reaction. Rails were under marked pressure, reflecting strike conditions. Oils, chemicals and coppers also lost ground. Early quotations showed losses of 1 to almost 2 points for Atchison, Great Northern preferred, Royal Dutch and Davison Chemical, Lake Erie and Western advanced 1 1-2 points on advices from Washington that application had been made by the "Nickle Plate" road to acquire control of that property. Foreign exchange, including German marks, were steady. Last week's clearing house statement showing a large actual gain was expected to make for easier money conditions in the local market.

Early offerings of stocks were easily absorbed and prices strengthened for a time on the demand for Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, Standard Oil of California, Studebaker and several of the equipments, food and chain store specialties. This advantage was cancelled before noon when fresh selling developed among rails and domestic oils. Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake and Ohio, "Nickle Plate" and the preferred shares of the Missouri Pacific, Pere Marquette, Wheeling and Lake Erie and Southern Railway were especially heavy. Motor accessories, secondary steels and coppers also lost ground. Call money opened at 4 1-2 per cent.

Trading in the stock market today was small in volume but the undertone was fairly steady despite further domestic and foreign complications. Sales approximated 575,000 shares.

The closing was irregular.

GIRLS FLEE FROM COUNTY HOME

Two Disappear Sunday—Believed They Are Being Hidden

Two girls escaped surveillance at the Children's Home, Shawnee-rd, at dusk Sunday and made a getaway. Despite efforts of attaches of the Home and Lima police, whereabouts of the pair, Thelma Long and Daisy Rundio, each 17 years old, remained a mystery as late as noon Monday.

According to information from the institution, the girls went out with a goveness for a stroll in the direction of the Ottawa river bridge, at the northwestern edge of the Home premises. They halted there and in a few minutes the girls asked permission to cross the bridge. It was granted. After a short time they did not return and the governess reported their escape to Superintendent Walters.

It is believed they struck out northward on the Shawnee-rd. No report was made to police until 11:30 p. m.

No trouble with the girls had been experienced, Mrs. Walters, the matron, said. Both had been exemplary in deportment. The Rundio girl escaped two years ago, but was soon brought back and since then had been one of the best behaved children in the Home, the matron declared. The Long girl had but six more months to stay before attaining the age of 18. The other had considerably longer.

The Long girl wore a white georgette waist, dark shoes and stockings. Attire of the other comprised a blue and gray dress and dark shoes and stockings. Both have dark hair, according to descriptions furnished to police.

According to the matron Monday morning the belief is held that someone is secreting the girls. They could not have gotten very far away unless picked up by an autoist, or by boarding a traction car, it is believed. Thoro search in the southwestern part of the city failed to locate the girls.

Police say the Long girl's father has a night job at the Solar Refinery and resides in the 800 block, S. Main-st. The other girl's mother resides on N. Union-st, two blocks north of Pearl-st. She is employed at the Lima Mattress Co. factory.

CARS IN SERVICE

Strike Breakers Operate Rolling Stock in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (Associated Press) — This city which for nine days has depended upon jitney busses for transportation today witnessed an attempt by the International Railway Company to restore limited service on its Main-st line.

At six a. m., the first of four cars armored in thick wire mesh, left the Cold Springs barns of the company. Two motorcycle policemen acted as advance guard for the car and four police armed with sawed off shotguns followed in an automobile. More than 200 other policemen were stationed along the 2 1-2 mile route.

Several hundred strikers stationed as pickets around the barns watched the progress of the cars, one of which was derailed a block from the barns. A crowd of strikers and sympathizers surrounded the car and jeered the workmen while they were getting it back on the rails. Some stones were thrown. One arrest was made.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Internal Revenue collector, John Marsh, says, "It's a mistake"

"What is?"

"The idea that drinkers can relish almost any whisky now that it is hard to get. For instance there is a story of the two wallpaper cleaners and the little dog named Fluff"

It happened in Lafayette

The two paper cleaners called at a house there and engaged to clean the wallpaper

One was named Stebbins

The other was Smith

The buxom woman who hired them had a little white dog with curly hair. The little dog's name was Fluff.

* * *

The cleaners had nearly finished when they were asked if they couldn't clean a picture frame where the gilt had tarnished

"Wall paper cleaner is no good for that," said Stebbins

"No good at all," said Mr. Smith

"If we had a little whisky and a soft woolen cloth," said Mr Stebbins

"That would do it fine," said Mr Smith.

He winked at Mr Stebbins

"We have little use for it," said the lady of the house 'But there's a small bottle in the cupboard I'll get you that'

So she did

Mr. Stebbins cleaned the frame with soap and water. From time to time he took a drink from the flask Each time he smacked his lips and wiped his mouth and passed the flask to Mr Smith.

The bottle was empty by the time the frame was cleaned

* * *

"How nice it looks now" said the lady of the house, when they called her in "It's a great improvement"

"Yes, ma'am," said Mr Stebbins

"Yes, ma'am," said Mr Smith

"I'm so glad I saved it,' said the lady of the house. 'I was going to throw it away that time after I used it to wash dear Fluff'

"Who's Fluff?" asked Mr Stebbins.

"My little dog He's so cute I used the whisky to wash him that time he was sick Then I was going to throw it away But I saved it instead But washing a little dog with whisky doesn't spoil it for cleaning picture frames, does it?'

"No, ma'am," said Mr Smith

"No ma'am," said Mr Stebbins

* * *

Mr. Smith went out on the front porch with Mr Stebbins

There sat Fluff.

"Yip!"

"That's how he went when hooted off by Mr Smith

"It was your idea" said Mr Stebbins.

So he kicked Smith off the porch after Fluff.

LET YOUR BODY TAKE PLACE OF WIRE AS AERIAL

THE latest in aerials is the human body!

This new form of antenna was devised by one of the inventors in Marconi' floating radio laboratory, the "Elettra" With a sensitive amplifier, it could receive messages from ships at sea

A few turns of wire around the operator's body and the human aerial does the rest

But an enterprising New Yorker has gone this British expert one better.

He doesn't use any wire!

From his office across the river, Rudolph Wolf listens in on the broadcasting from Newark, N J, by just touching the receiving set!

By contact with the aerial binding post, Wolf makes his body act as the antenna. If this sound isn't loud enough, he calls his assistants and they stand, with their arms raised, forming a human antenna chain!

The longer the chain, says Wolf, the better the reception.

For radio experimenting, this form of antenna is worth a try. But for steady reception, stick to the loop or wire aerials.

They are more reliable—as antennae—than the human body.

WE'LL SOON TALK OVER SEA BY LAND WIRE AND RADIO

BY PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority

HELLO, London! Give me Dublin And if Dublin is willing, it will soon be possible to call up a friend there by wireless telephone.

Announcement has just been made of the installation on Long Island of a high power experimental radio telephone transmitter which, it is expected, will be the forerunner of regular telephone communication between the United States and Europe.

As far back as 1915 the spoken word was thrown across the Atlantic to Paris, across the continent, and over the Pacific to Hawaii But this was purely in experiment carried on to show what the possibilities were. Our entrance into the war hindered further work along this line

During the elapsed time great improvements have been made in the transmitting equipment necessary for this work. The electron tube—vacuum tube—has been developed to the point at the one unit will develop as much as 2 horsepower of radio energy The present installation contemplates the use of four of these tubes.

At the present time it is possible for any telephone subscriber in the land to telephone to Catalina Island, off the coast of California You merely ask for the toll operator and give your number. When the connection is made you cannot know that the most western 15 miles of your connection is without wires The gap is bridged by radio will be true of the gap between New York and Europe. Many business men will avail themselves of this service. Such a link should also have the effect of hastening the perfection of European telephone systems Telephone service in Europe is notoriously behind the times.

So, within a few months this same

Shredded Wheat
